Suspect Questioned As Child Molester

WPA WORKER ARRESTED IN COUNTY PROBE

Identified as Man Who Called at Butler School, Asked Girl to Accompany Him.

QUIZZED IN OTHER CASES

Children Molested in Recent Months to Be Asked to Identify Suspect.

City and county authorities today were questioning a 30-year-old WPA worker held as a suspect in connection with the molesting of several small children in Mansfield and in the county during the past six months.

The suspect was arrested at his home in Vernon Junction, southwest of Shelby, yesterday by Detective Lee J. Remy and Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman, who were assigned to run down the child molester two months ago.

Their tip came yesterday morning when a Butler school teacher reported to the sheriff's office that an unidentified man had called at the school Tuesday afternoon for a 14-year-old girl, claiming that her mother was ill and asked the child to accompany him.

The girl refused to go with the man and on returning to school yesterday told her teacher that the man's story was false.

Give Information.

Questioned yesterday, both the girl and the teacher gave information which led the officers to the suspect's home in the northern part of the county.

Officers said the suspect admitted that he had visited the school in Butler and tried to get

236 Who Left U. S. Reach Helsinki To Help Finnish Army

HELSINKI—(AP)—Two hundred and thirty Finnish-Americans, some of whom never before have been in Finland, arrived today to enlist in the Finnish army to fight against Russia.

A spokesman for the group said they left New York as soon as they learned Finnish independence was threatened.

They sailed for Norway, and then journeyed by train across Sweden to Helsinki.

News of the Russian invasion reached them as they were waiting in a railroad station in Sweden. When they boarded their train they offered the conductor money for every minute cut off the regular schedule, the spokesman said.

The group expects to be sent to the north central sector of the front.

More Finnish-Americans will follow as soon as possible, they said.

Roosevelt to Hear Secrets Of Two Wars

Kennedy Sees President Today, Has 'Confidential Reports' Ready.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, delivers to President Roosevelt today a report on the European wars "too confidential for the cables."

White House and state department conferences with Mr. Roosevelt's No. 1 ambassador were expected to have an important bearing on the future policy of this government toward the belligerents, particularly with respect to Soviet Russia and Finland.

Kennedy arrived at Port Washington, N. Y., yesterday by clipper plane after a series of conferences in Paris with William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, jr., ambassador to the refugee government of Poland, now located near Paris.

He will follow to the White House other government officials who have been discussing with the president a program for extending relief to Finland—a program that may embrace credits for purchases of this country's surplus commodities and for aid to refugee and wounded Finns.

Observers here believed that Kennedy's report would be an important factor in determination of this government's policies in the Russian-Finnish conflict. There has been much agitation by Republicans and by some Democritic congressmen for severance of diplomatic relations with Russia.

Mr. Roosevelt and his Secretary of State Cordell Hull have said that no step would be taken until complete, Authoritative reports have been received from abroad. Kennedy's report will round out a survey of European conditions that Mr. Roosevelt has been conducting through the state department, military intelligence and returning diplomats and military attaches.

LIKE SPRING

Mansfield Basks in 50-Degree Weather; Cold Due Friday.

There was more of spring than the Christmas holiday season in the weather today as Mansfielders basked in 50-degree temperatures.

A strong southwest wind and a bright sun sent the mercury up 17 degrees during the morning and the 24-hour average 41.5 degrees was 10 above normal. The lowest this morning was 33, one degree above freezing.

The fair weather is due to stay at least through Friday, the weatherman said, but it will be colder tomorrow, he added.

It was not likely, however, that the mercury will take much of a drop, because in the far northwest where most of the cold originates, it was warmer than in most Ohio cities.

DEWEY STUDIES FARM PROBLEM

Meets Agricultural Leaders After Campaign Speech Blasting 'Defeatism.'

(By Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS — Thomas E. Dewey probed down to the roots of the farm problem today, seeking facts and suggestions to use in his drive for the Republican presidential nomination.

He opened his campaign last night with a blast at New Deal "defeatism," and today continued it with a conference with a dozen of the state's top ranking farmers and farm organization leaders.

The New York district attorney announced he was eager for facts and well primed with questions about agriculture's troubles. He hinted at the trend his investigation would take yesterday when he mentioned the drought and southern competition with northern dairy interests as two important questions.

His inquiry into the farm

Man at Y Calls Phone Operator Before Falling 18 Stories.

CHICAGO —(AP)— The telephone operator in the Lawson Y. M. C. A. answered a call from an 18th floor room early today and was horrified to hear a man say:

"My door is open and I'm going to jump out of the window!"

The operator, Mrs. Elicn School, hardly had time to call the night manager when there came a crash outside the fifth floor switchboard room. A man had jumped from the 18th floor to his death.

Police said he carried a chauffeur's badge in the name of Ben Tucker, 33, of Chicago.

PARIS —(U.P.)— The Paris Soir today published a statement by Hermann Rauschnigg, former president of the Danzig senate, quoting Adolf Hitler as saying that Germany had "means of preventing America from trying to intervene in the war."

Rauschnigg purported to give quotations from talks with Hitler before the war started.

"There are new arms which would be particularly effective in such a case," Hitler was alleged by Rauschnigg to have said. "Those people have nothing to say about Europe."

SETTLE DISPUTE OVER OLD BRIDGE

County and Railroad End 18-Month Controversy as Span Is Repaired, Re-opened.

The county settled an 18-month controversy with the Pennsylvania Railroad company today when the railroad repaired and opened an overhead bridge on a county road in Springfield township.

It required two court actions and a long series of conferences, however, before the railroad agreed to repair the structure which was closed about two years ago because it was considered unsafe.

Built 47 years ago, the bridge spans the Pennsylvania tracks on the Stiving road near Springmill.

A dispute between the railroad company and county commissioners over responsibility for repair of the bridge was taken into common pleas court several months ago and Judge C. H. Huston ordered the railroad to repair it.

Months passed without anything being done, however, and the county recently brought mandamus action to force the railroad to carry out the court order. The bridge was repaired while the action was pending.

Collins, a 200-pound, six-foot tackle, was injured Oct. 6 in a game with the Villanova college freshmen. Doctors said an infected blood clot made the amputation necessary.

BONDS TO EASE RELIEF CRISIS IN CLEVELAND

$1,200,000 to Provide Food for Needy; U. S. Doubles Shipment of Supplies.

TOLEDO STILL IN DARK

City Continues to Hunt Way to Relieve Suffering and Give Aid to 6,000.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — With the federal government doubling shipments of surplus commodities here and $1,200,000 forthcoming through the sale of tax delinquency bonds, Cleveland breathed easier today over its immediate relief crisis.

Officials here and in Toledo, the state's two hardest hit cities, continued to hunt all possible added revenues to carry on until Jan. 1.

Mayor Harold H. Burton said the $1,200,000 would not restore normal relief rations, but added:

"The two-thirds rations will continue. The bonds mean that we can keep conditions from getting worse. No one is starving and no one will starve before Jan. 1."

Burton said he figured the city's relief load would be so great in 1940 that even though the state contributed 50 per cent of regular poor aid costs and a contemplated special relief levy passed, an additional $1,700,000 would be needed.

In Toledo City Manager George N. Schoonmaker said turning the calendar would not allow the city to restore to its rolls 5,913 persons found to be "in actual want."

No Money Available.

No new moneys will be available at the start of 1940 unless they are taken out of operating expenses which in themselves are insufficient," he declared.

In Cleveland 46,000 persons are on "two-thirds" relief rations, while 12,000 others cut off the rolls are dependent largely on the surplus foods from the federal government.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, said in Columbus that Republican Gov. John W. Bricker "does not understand the critical relief situation in Ohio and is making no effort to solve the problem."

MAYOR STRICKEN

Ashland Executive Taken Ill on Street, Recovering.

ASHLAND — Mayor W. Art Mason collapsed on the street this morning as he was on his way to work. He was taken home in an ambulance and his physician said he was suffering from nervous indigestion. He was reported improved at noon.

Six Missing as Vessel Sinks In Channel Attack

Lifeboat Containing 28 Members Of Crew And 6 Passengers Picked Up By Rescue Ship; British Planes Clash Uith Nazi Air Raiders.

(By Associated Press)

AMSTERDAM—The 8,159-ton Netherlands motorship Tajandoen was torpedoed and sunk in the English channel today. Six members of her crew were missing.

All passengers and 48 members of the crew of 54 were rescued, according to information received by owners of the vessel, which was bound for the East Indies with a general cargo.

The message said the Belgian steamer Louis Scheid had landed 28 crewmen and six of the 14 passengers at Weymouth, England. All the passengers were Hollanders, among them several children.

The Tajandoen sailed from Amsterdam Nov. 29 for the Netherlands East Indies and had stopped at Antwerp, Belgium, and a British blockade control port on the east coast of England.

(A lifeboat containing 28 members of the crew and six passengers of the Tajandoen were picked up, advices received in London said.)

The operators announced there were 68 persons aboard the vessel—a crew of 54 and 14 passengers, among whom were several children.

The naval ministry was informed fire broke out after the ship was torpedoed. She carried a general cargo.

A Belgian ship picked up survivors in two lifeboats.

There were no immediate indications of casualties.

The Tajandoen had passed Dungeness, Eng., a short time before being attacked.

It was the eighth Netherlands ship sunk during the war and the second reported a submarine victim.

British Planes Damage Nazi Craft.

LONDON—(AP)—British pursuit planes which sped aloft to intercept German fliers over the vital Firth of Forth area in Scotland today were reported to have badly damaged German Dornier flying boats in two encounters over the North sea.

None of the Nazi planes reached land, and there was no bombing on the Firth of Forth, strategic inlet on which lie the city of Edinburgh and the Rosyth naval base.

The air ministry announced the

HELSINKI: Finns Deny Reds Crash Through Main Defense

BULLETIN

COPENHAGEN—(U.P.)—Telephone advices from Haparanda on the Swedish-Finnish border said today that 5,000 Russian troops had been "decimated" in a surprise Finnish attack in the eastern section of the Finnish province of Uleaborg.

(By International News Service)

HELSINKI—Finnish military authorities today categorically denied Soviet claims that Russian troops broke through the Mannerheim line across the Karelian isthmus.

(A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm reported a heavy engagement occurred northeast of Kemi-faervi, stating that Finnish troops repulsed 3,000 Russians.)

Meanwhile a thick fog caused by a heavy thaw and drizzling rain made an aerial bombardment of Helsinki impossible for the moment. According to dispatches from the fronts, there was little violent fighting this morning anywhere.

On the Karelian isthmus, the Russians were reported to have reached the advanced outposts of the Mannerheim line at one or two points.

Total Finnish troop losses in the fighting were estimated at 1,000 men.

Soviet prisoners revealed that the Russian troops have been unnerved by the surprise tactics of Finland's white-clad ski units, which have been swooping at the invaders silently and almost invisible over the snow-covered countryside.

The prisoners also were said to have told Finnish authorities that the "conspicuous failure" of the Russian tanks was damaging the morale of the Red army troops.

A report that puzzled Finnish authorities stated the Russians re-

MOSCOW: Soviet Troops Push North After Smashing Offensive

BULLETIN

STOCKHOLM—(U.P.)—The Swedish newspaper Aftenbladet reported from Helsinki today that the GPU or Soviet secret police was reported to have executed 21 Russian pilots for sabotage or refusal to obey orders.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—A Soviet Russian army has smashed the main Finnish defense line on the Karelian isthmus, the Leningrad command announced today, and is thrusting on northward.

The Leningrad communique said that "Soviet troops, after artillery preparation, broke through the main defense line of the Finns along the Vuoski water system, known among Finnish White Guards as the 'Maginot-Kirke' line."

The natural defenses of the Vuoksi water system, a chain of lakes and watercourses ziz-zagging almost across the 65-mile wide isthmus north of Leningrad, had been augmented, it is said, by pillboxes, trenches, wire entanglements, tank traps and mines.

The Finns defended the line with artillery, machine-guns and automatic rifles.

(If this were really the main Finnish line on the Karelian isthmus and if the Russians actually have broken through, the Leningrad communique marks a victory over what in Finland is called the Mannerheim line, named for Field Marshal Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, Finnish Generalissimo. Helsinki dispatches have not mentioned a "Maginot-Kirke" line.

(A Swedish woman newspaper correspondent reported to Stockholm that the Finns were exacting a tremendous price for the invasion of the isthmus.

(She quoted a Finnish commander, Alexander Meelblom, as

Here's Your Chance to 'Share a Christmas'

NEEDY FAMILIES of Mansfield will have their Christmas baskets this year and small boys and girls will have their free "can" matinees.

Plans worked out between the Mansfield theaters, the Salvation Army and the Mansfield Service League, were announced today and the first free matinee for youngsters will be given Saturday morning at the Ohio theater.

William Dworski, manager of the Ohio theater, is chairman of the matinee set-up, and working with him will be Ralph Shaffer, manager of the Park, Wayne Williams of the Majestic, and Sol Bernstein of the Ritz.

Mrs. Robert R. Black, 182 West Second street, will be in charge of the Christmas basket program for the Service League and Major David Brown will head the Salvation Army program. The News-Journal will serve as clearing house for contributions of cash and food for both organizations.

The number of baskets given out will depend upon the amount of money contributed by Mansfield clubs and individuals who want to "share a Christmas."

The Service League and the Salvation Army will compile their lists of families from the neediest families on relief and from the neediest families reported by John H. Eisaman, attendance officer of the public schools.

A part of the canned goods received at the Saturday morning matinees will be given to the Volunteers of America for their Christmas dinner for men, women and children. The Volunteers have their chimneys on the street to raise money for the dinner.

The familiar kettles of the Salvation Army, which are on the streets of thousands of cities and towns in America during the Christmas season, made their appearance yesterday. All of the money thrown into the kettles will be used in filling Christmas baskets.

There will be four free matinees at the theaters at which admittance can be gained only by contributing a can of fruit or vegetables to the Christmas baskets.

The first one will be Saturday at the Ohio theater when the youngsters of the city will see a bill topped by the beautiful technicolor feature, "Heart of the North" with Dick Foran and June Gale, and the "Our Gang Follies of 1939," besides the animated cartoon subjects.

The second and third matinees will be Saturday, Dec. 16, at the Majestic and the Ritz, and the fourth one will be at the Park theater on Dec. 23.

Organizations and individuals wishing to contribute either money or food to help fill Christmas baskets may make their contributions through "The Christmas Basket Fund" at The News-Journal. Donations will be divided between the Service league and the Salvation Army or distributed as the donor requests.

ARMY AIRFIELD TO USE RADIO AS LIGHTHOUSE

Newest Safety Service to Be Available to Civil Fliers Too at Alabama Field.

(By United Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Maxwell field soon will be a veritable lighthouse of the air.

The U. S. army's giant tactical air school is being equipped with a new radio range station as powerful as any in the country.

The station, when completed this winter, will have a range great enough to tie in with other powerful southeastern stations. It will be capable of transmitting both signals and speech.

Its operation will mark the first time both commercial and military planes flying this section of the nation's air lanes will have this latest scientific safety service available at all times.

Construction work is being centered at the operations building, located at edge of the huge flying field, and at another site 2.5 miles west of the army air field.

Antenna Towers Rise.

Instruments for controlling the radio range station are being installed and tested at the operations building. At the other site, called the Hunter Loop, workmen are busy installing huge generators and putting final touches on the five 125-foot steel antenna towers, from which signals to aircraft will be flashed.

The Hunter Loop station will be controlled entirely from the operations building.

The central antenna tower will be used for voice communication. The others will transmit directional signals to the four winds.

These four signals, traveling through space north, south, east and west, will be the "legs" of the beam, along which an airplane may set its course straight to or from Maxwell field.

Each of these 'legs" will send out a different type sound, so that the airplane contacting the sound would know whether it was flying in the proper direction. These variegated sound waves or 'legs" will be interrupted frequently for station identification.

To determine whether he is flying away from or toward Maxwell field, the pilot would set the dial of his receiving set so that he barely hears the 'leg beams." If in course of a few miles, the sounds become louder, he knows he is approaching the field, and vice versa.

Finds Planes in Fog.

The ever-increasing width of the 'leg" also will denote that the plane is approaching the field. When the plane arrives over the field it runs into a narrow cone of silence. In this way, with ceiling zero, the pilot would know his exact position for landing. As soon as the plane passes over the field it contacts the beams again, and the sounds start again.

The pilot at this point would communicate by voice with the control man in the operations building, receiving explicit instructions for making a landing.

The radio range station, in addition to its beams, will send out weather reports and other facts pertinent to air navigation.

Italian Army, Navy Officers Told To Avoid Foreigners.

ROME—Italian army and navy officers have been cautioned to avoid foreigners as much as possible, presumably as a safeguard against spies.

Unlike in Soviet Russia, where contact between officials and foreigners has been discouraged for several years, Italian officials have had many friends in Rome's foreign colony. But they are seeing their foreign friends much less frequently since the war.

Italian officers have been instructed even to avoid the cafes of the Via Vittorio Veneto, the capital's Main Street, where they might encounter foreigners.

TRUSTEES TURN DOWN MT. GILEAD CEMETERY PLEA

Reject Village's Request to Withdraw From Management of Graveyard.

MT. GILEAD—The Gilead township trustees today had rejected a proposal presented by the Mt. Gilead village council that the township-village union in the management of Rivercliff cemetery here be dissolved.

Rivercliff cemetery which was this year adjudged the best among all village cemeteries in Ohio, had been jointly managed and supported by the township and village for over 60 years.

At a joint meeting of the council and trustees, the latter protested vigorously to the action council had taken in passing a resolution passed by council which read, "the union is hereby dissolved."

Employing Prosecutor Nelson Campbell as council, the trustees asserted that the union could not be dissolved merely by a resolution by council. Campbell brought out that one party must withdraw and the other party to the union must consent before the union could be ended.

So the trustees decided that they would not consent to the union being dissolved especially because the resolution "sounded suspiciously like a demand."

SAVES VILLAGE MONEY

MT. GILEAD — A practice of hearing cases in the mayor's court instead of the justice court inaugurated here two years ago by Mayor James P. Bennett has resulted in hundreds of collars going into the village treasury, the mayor said today.

The county and state benefit from fines assessed in the justice court while fines taken in the court of the mayor are turned over to the village. Bennett is able to divert money into the village treasury because he is both a justice of the peace and mayor of Mt. Gilead. In the last two years the treasury has benefited a total of $512.

"We missed a couple of windows," said one of the youths. "If we'd had tools, we could have saved more of that weather stripping."

Rev. Don E. Nickerson of Orrville will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Church of Christ at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the church basement. The committee is headed by Burch Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Major will entertain members of the Jolly club Friday night at their home. A Christmas program will be featured.

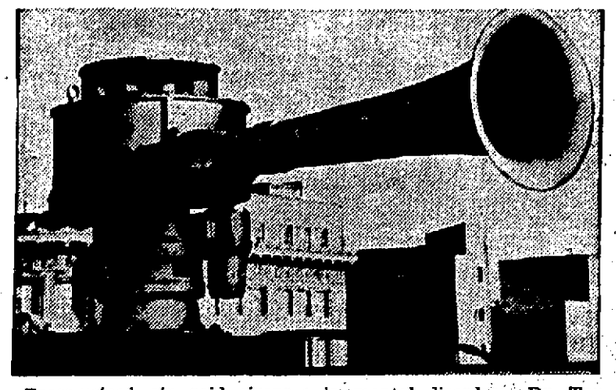
Air Raid Siren Hard on Nerves



Brass-voiced air raid sirens as the one pictured above in Sydney, Australia, are blamed by Dr. Edouard Toulouse, president of the French League of Mental Hygiene, for a rapid rise in mental disorders. Dr. Toulouse, who is technical adviser to the French ministry of public health, suggests that a softer-toned alarm be substituted lest France become a nation of nervous wrecks.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(U.P.)—If you've ever watched the horse of your choice standing wrong way around with a far away glint in his eyes while his rivals bounced out of their starting stalls like frightened gazelles, then listen to the news given me today by one of the world's outstanding turf experts.

The gentleman's name is Morphine McGinnity and I know he is an expert because he wears a checkered coat, speaks out of the side of his mouth and refers to" Herbert Bayard Swpoe as "me buddy, Hoib." McGinnity says the starting gate Corrigans have been cured for good.

He goes farther than that. McGinnity says a horse no longer can start a race on a tangent, no longer can beat the gate and no longer can keep upward of 25,000 people stamping their feet impatiently while the assistant starters pull and tug at him for 15 minutes while he is brought into position.

For electricity, like love, has conquered even the most stubborn of the bad post actors. The electricity has been injected into the old wooden gates. Bomb releases, trap doors and enough other gadgets have been added to outfit each individual stall as cozily as a one-room apartment with kitchenette. Steam and frigidaires can be added according to the season.

There have been many men watch their horses nap at the barrier, including ourselves, but not until Claude Puett watched one was the matter taken seriously in mind. Puett and several engineers from a Los Angeles airplane factory pooled their cash and their ingenuity and in two years developed what was known as the Puett gate.

The principle is a simple one. Each stall is equipped with a wire mesh door and a V-shaped back. Once a horse is backed into the stall, the door is snapped shut and the horse can neither rear nor charge. The V-back keeps him in perfect alignment until the starter presses a button which swings open all the doors simultaneously and gives every horse an even break. The doors are synchronized and are released by bomb locks when the current is turned on.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt proved the gate's worth. In his stable he has the two truculent horses in America. Heelfly and Airflame But once they were backed into the Puett device they developed manners seldom found outside of drawing rooms. And both of them promptly began winning.

The gate idea is spreading now. A similar device, known as the Westinghouse gate, was introduced at Santa Anita and will be used during the coming meeting.

* * *

But the entire project makes my friend Morphine very sad. Morphine you see, is of an older school. He believes electricity, instead of the gate, should be administered the horse.

Braves Obtain Playing Help From Parent Club

Bolster Garden Weakened By Edwards' Loss

Two Outfielders, Pitcher and Catcher Added By Mansfield Club at Cincinnati Meeting.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

IF THE OHIO STATE BASEBALL LEAGUE were to open tomorrow, Mansfield's Braves could put a ball team on the field that would not be a disgrace to the class D chain.

Outside of a couple of changes, the lineup would be little different than that which took the field for the final game of the campaign last September.

Of course, Hank Edwards, Steve Gromek and Del Leslie would be among the missing as they have been recalled by the parent Cleveland club, but there wouldn't be a shortage of replacements.

President Joe C. Hartline, who heads the Mansfield syndicate which recently purchased the controlling interest in the Braves, and Treasurer William Purcell came away from the minor league convention in Cincinnati yesterday with four new additions to the Mansfield roster and a promise of additional talent from H. B. (Buzz) Wetzel, director of the Indians' farm system.

The new players assigned to the Mansfield club are Outfielders Eugene Woodling and William Doe, Catcher Bob Tallman and Pitcher Stanley Kudelvitz.

None of the new players is experienced, but the quartet was highly recommended by Wetzel. He was particularly enthusiastic of Woodling's chances to replace Edwards in the Mansfield garden.

Woodling worked out with the Buffalo club of the International league late last season, and Mickey O'Neill, the Bisons' manager, also spoke well of the big gardener.

In addition to Woodling and Doe, the outfielders on the roster are Connell Zerman and Paul Curley, who, although listed as an infielder, can also patrol the garden.

Whether Manager Dewey Stover will return to the Braves is not definite. He conferred with Hartline and Purcell in Cincinnati, but no contract was signed.

If Stover is re-signed, the Mansfield outfield problem will be fairly well settled, although the pilot is past his prime as an active performer.

Infielders listed on the roster are Frank Ankenbrandt, Howard Beals, Harry Siegbert, Curley, and Don Hauri, a Toledo boy, who broke in several games as a third baseman.

Mansfield is well supplied with catchers in "Spotsy" Spartichino, Charley Wrenn, Stan Olesko and Tallman. At least two of these receivers will be released, and it was intimated at the meeting that the first to go will probably be Spartichino.

Spartichino's failure to play the type of ball he presented when he performed here in 1937 did not strengthen his chances to remain, we understand.

Pitchers returned to Mansfield by the parent club are Lloyd Joyce, George Laurilla, Leon Maloney and Howard Patterson. Bob Schremser and Wandell Mossor have been released outright.

Mossor's inability to win in the latter part of the season was given as the reason for his release by the Mansfield officials. Schremser was not retained as he is a class man.

Mansfield has been promised pitching help as Joyce and Maloney are the only slingers who saw any amount of service last season, and it is reported that the former may not return next season as he is contemplating retirement.

Laurilla and Patterson, an Ontario boy, are outstanding prospects, but the former must improve his control before he can be regarded seriously in the pitching plans. Despite the fact that Kudelvitz is highly recommended, he has to prove his ability in pro baseball.

Considering the contacts made at Cincinnati, the Mansfield officials were well pleased with the outlook for the season.

Hostak Meets Eric Seelig

Armstrong Also Fights on Cleveland Card.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Boxing took star billing on Cleveland's sports stage today as fans scanned next Monday's show presenting two world's champions and 47 rounds—or less—of fighting.

Al Hostak, of Seattle, Wash., king of the middleweights, and Henry Armstrong, ruler of the welterweight ranks, will top the program, presented by the Cleveland News as its 14th annual Christmas fund show.

The Pacific battler will defend his title in a 15-round bout with Erie Seelig, of New York, in the headliner.

A 10-round clash between Armstrong and Jimmy Garrison, of Kansas City, will be a non-title affair.

Mike Gamiere, promising Cleveland lightweight, tangles with Dave Castilloux, of Toronto, Canadian champion, in the top six-rounder. Another preliminary of equal distance pits Paul Pirrone, Cleveland's comeback middleweight, against Billy Soose, of Farrell, Pa., former Penn State ring star.

Leonard Bennett, of Detroit, and Milo Theodorescu, of Rumania, are down for six, with Jimmy Reeves and Horace Gresham, both of Cleveland, opening festivities with a four-round match.

Hostak, Garrison and Seelig have been in town several days preparing for their scraps. Hostak, recognizing Seelig as a tough challenger, has been working especially hard and figures to be in top condition for the title defense.

Appears on Mat Card Tonight

Princess Rose White Cloud . . . wrestling star.

Gil Knutsen, the blond Canadian who has taken junior-heavyweight mat ranks by storm, will be out to continue his winning ways when he encounters rugged Indian Ike Cazzell of Laredo, Texas, in the Armory here tonight.

Their bout is scheduled for two falls, with a 90-minute time limit, and it will feature one of the most promising programs to be offered by the Quality club this season.

Knutsen has been only slightly less than a "ball of fire" since his return from the wrestling pads of Europe. He's almost sure of being named one of the four leading contenders in the newly-formed junior-heavy class unless he runs afoul tonight.

That the possibility exists cannot be denied, for Cazzell isn't exactly the worst performer in the class himself. It'll take everything the young Canuck has to get by this one and any blunder is sure to prove disastrous.

The semi-final affair on tonight's card, and one which rivals the feature for fan interest, is the feminine tiff between Princess Rose White Cloud and Gladys Gillem.

The Princess wants a title match with champion Mildred Burke and will certainly earn it if she gets by the "blonde tigress" from Birmingham, Ala. When rougher femmes are made than Miss Gillem, the millenium will have arrived.

FONSECA IMPROVING

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lou Fonseca, promotional director for the American league, was showing satisfactory progress today in recovering from an attack of stomach ulcers but will remain in the hospital for another 10 days. Fonseca formerly managed the Chicago White Sox.

Opening the program will be a one-fall, 30-minute time limit bout between popular Davey Reynolds of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Buzz Jones of Portland, Ore.

Reynolds has dropped only one decision locally and that in a title match last winter, but Jones may make his debut of the current season an inauspicious one.

WASHINGTON BATTLING FOR NATIONAL HONORS

SEATTLE — (AP) — Saturday's football game between Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles will decide something more than the west coast Rose Bowl defender.

It should decide whether Kenny Washington, U. C. L. A.'s great colored halfback, will capture honors as the nation's leading ground gainer—by land and by air—for 1939.

Nile Kinnick Turns Down Pro Grid Offers.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Nile Kinnick, the sensational 172-pound Iowa all-American who last night was presented with the Heisman trophy as the "player of the year," turned his back definitely today on all possible pro football offers. "I'm not interested in pro football," Kinnick declared. "Sure, the dough looks inviting but money isn't everything. Anyway, I'm going to law school."

Anderson Selected as 'Coach of Year'

NEW YORK— (AP) —Dr. Eddie Anderson, head mentor of the University of Iowa's football team, today was named 1939's "coach of the year" in a nation-wide poll conducted by the New York World-Telegram.

The one-time Notre Dame end received 48 of the 80 votes to become the fifth to be named to the high honor.

Dr. Anderson's first year at the helm of an Iowa team that finished eighth in the Big Ten in 1938 and second to Ohio State this year, was "universally acclaimed as an heroic job" the newspapers said today.

* * *

In 1938 the Hawkeye team won but one game, over Chicago, and tied Purdue. This year, with practically the same material, Iowa bowed only to Michigan.

Landis Takes Over the Stage At Major Meet

Baseball Commissioner to Appear Today; Detroit Trades Rogell to Cubs for Bartell.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CINCINNATI—(AP)—There was a new high note of anticipation around the baseball circus today, a sure sign that "the judge" had landed, tossed his famous black fedora on a convenient lounge and taken charge.

No Barrymore ever timed an entrance with a better eye to the dramatic values. The baseball gathering had struck a sort of "dead center" after three days. The minor league magnates had departed for their respective homes, and with three days still to go there was a crying need for new talent.

"The judge," who is known very respectfully as Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, was confidently expected to jerk the production back on its feet. Word has been coming down from Chicago that the boss man is in rare form.

Nobody knew exactly what Landis had on his mind, but there was an undercurrent of feeling that he intended to "crack down" on somebody. The big league magnates, with whom he was closeted today, have been worried and in a state of indecision about their "working agreements" with the minors.

The situation, broadly speaking, boils down to the fact that the white-thatched arbiter of baseball gradually has become a trifle tougher and taken to himself slightly broader powers than the club owners ever anticipated that he would. Now they are trying desperately to slow Landis down, but they are being very, very diplomatic about it. They appreciate his services to the game and do not wish to offend him.

The owners say they certainly never intended to have a rule in the book, for instance, that would obstruct working agreements between big league teams and the minors. They even passed a silly-sounding amendment two days ago to the effect that the rule about working agreements meant only

Friendly House Senior League Opens Tonight

Three Games on Tap for Opening Card; Billiards Face Raemelton Club.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE FRIENDLY HOUSE Class A Senior asketball league lifts the lid of the 1939-40 season with a three-game attraction at the settlement at 6:45 today.

Headlining the opening night hostilities will be the final contest in which the defending championship Rex Billiards five clashes with the Raemelton Farm combine.

Tonight's initial card sends the Moose Lodge against the Augustine Canfield Station five in the first game, while Daley's Cafe quintet faces the Isaly Dairy clubs in the second contest.

* * *

Manager Mike Wentz's titleholders are expected to run into trouble in the final setto.

With the Hardin brothers, Kenny and Jim, leading the attack, the Raemelton outfit possesses a dangerous scoring attack.

Several new faces appear in the Billards lineup this year, and it will be interesting to see if the team can develop into as good a club as the one that carried the colors last season.

The Cuemen have Joe Wentz, Tony Brucato, Pete Tefillio, Fred Brubach, Howard Richards, James Rocco and Pete Bernet available for duty. Missing from the lineup will be Bob Boyd, one of the league's leading individual scorers in the last campaign.

Coach John Villella has Ray Shively, Ray Friday, a former City Class A league player, Bill and Halsy Hipp, Lee LeMunyon, "Babe" Meder and Frank Schroff to carry the Moose Lodge banner.

Paul Carbetta, Bob Bajli, Alex Colangelo, Fred Santora, Bill Brubach, Frank Carbetta, James Augustine and Joe Santora will make up the personnel of Daley's Cafe club. "Doc." Passerni will manage the team.

* * *

On Augustine's Canfield Service team are Pete Schadek, player-manager, Jim Heiser, Phil Bohland and Tony Augustine. The rosters of the Isaly Dairy quintet is not available. Lee Christman will manager the Dairys.

TOLEDO FULLBACK PICKED AS OUTSTANDING PLAYER

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—Francis Maher, fullback and captain of the 1939 Toledo university football team, had been named today as the outstanding college football player in Ohio in a statewide poll conducted by the Toledo Downtown Coaches association. Maher was fullback on the second all-Ohio team of the United States. Dan Risaliti, Ohio U., was second in the voting with 32 points against 966 for Maher. Maher will be honored at a dinner on Dec. 15.

REJECT INVITATION

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Coach Buff Donelli rejected an invitation for his unbeaten Duquesne Dukes to play an Olympic Bowl game December 16 at Los Angeles, and promised an answer today on a bid to engage Arizona State college in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas, New Year's. Duquesne is said to be a ranking candidate for Dallas' Cotton Bowl classic.

RUN AT SANTA ANITA

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Ninety-five candidates, headed by W. L. Brann's Challedon and Charles S. Howard's Kayaw II, have been nominated for the sixth running of the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap March 2.

Sports Chatter

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — New York turf writers think Bimelech, Calory, Carrier Pigeon and Straight Lead are the two-year-olds with the best chance of coming through next year. Andy K. was left off the seeded list for some reason.

Forget about Doc Sutherland hanging up his hat at Stanford. Insiders out there say the brass hats will pick Dud De Groot, San Jose State; Buck Shaw, Santa Clara or Tex Oliver, Oregon. . . . The Green Bay Packers are 7 to 5 over the Giants in Broadway books.

ALL RIGHT, YOU WIN. "You suggest putting the Washington Redskins against Sing Sing to bring together the pros and cons of football," writes Roger Hickey of Newport News, Va. . . . How about Sing Sing vs. the Army to see if the pen is mightier than the sword?"

Those rumors that Judge Landis is getting ready to quit are dribbling in again. . . . What's this about George Weiss, Bucky Harris and Joe Judge visiting a track and passing up a hoss named Shortstop which finished second and paid more than $80? . . .

Coast boosters want the Indians to go out there in 1941 and train in the Hollywood ball park. . . . The portly Doc Spears again has passed up pro offers to remain at Toledo U. and if you want to bet he doesn't wind up in one of the bowls in 1941, the boys out there will oblige you.

Sooners Beam On Bowl Bid

Oklahoma Gridders May Play Eastern Club.

NORMAN, Okla. — (AP) — Coach Tom Stidham of Oklahoma's Sooners went to see a man about a football game today and if his luck holds out he may toss his club into the Dallas Cotton Bowl against an eastern opponent New Year's day.

"Who? Us!" the surprised Sooners chorused when Dallas promoters invited them to be hosts at the Cotton Bowl party, evidently forgetting that Missouri and Nebraska whipped Oklahoma on successive Saturdays and finished ahead of the 1938 champs in the Big Six race.

As soon as a quorum had recovered from the shock, the players decided to accept if it was all right with everyone concerned.

Before they can engage in such post-season hostilities, they must obtain permission of nearly everybody except their congressmen.

Big Tom, who lost 10 pounds in the excitement, quickly propelled the other 250 into action.

He must win approval of Dr. W. B. Bizzell, university president; the athletic council, the board of regents, and the Big Six.

Conference officials already have approved Missouri's participation in the Orange Bowl game at Miami, Fla., and gave Oklahoma permission to play at Miami last Jan. 2.

Promoter Curtis Sanford, who announced in Dallas that Oklahoma would be the host team, said the other club would be chosen from Boston college, North Carolina, Clemson, Duquesne and Mississippi State.

Plotting Trouble?

Professional football's world series is scheduled for Milwaukee, Sunday, Dec. 9, when the New York Giants, eastern rulers, tangle with the Green Boy Packers, western titlists. The Giants' captain, Mel Hein, erstwhile Washington luminary, and coach, Steve Owen, are shown in New York as they plotted plenty of trouble for the Packers.

Otterbein Tackles Untested Ohio State Sophomore Cagers

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Big Ten's winning record against non-conference basketball foes this season still was intact today as Ohio State, conference champion, and Purdue, perennial contender, sought to join the group that now includes Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa.

Ohio State will test its plentiful and promising sophomore material tonight against Otterbein. Purdue, however, will rely on veterans against the usually formidable western (Ill.) State Teachers. In each instance the conference members are the hosts.

Illinois got the jump on the rest of the Big Ten teams in the matter of victories last night by playing and winning a double header. Twenty cagers saw service in the opener as the Illini defeated Monmouth, 37 to 19. Nine participated in the 60 to 21 rout of Wabash.

Dick Lounsbury, veteran Chicago center, led the Maroons to a 42 to 26 opening triumph over the Chicago Teachers college in the other game last night involving a Big Ten member. Lounsbury got 18 points.

Iowa takes on its second opponent of the season—Millikin university of Decatur, Ill.—At Iowa City tomorrow night. Indiana and Michigan wait until Saturday for their debut. Indiana will play Wabash and Michigan will face Michigan State.

Ohio teams got an even break last night in the state's two-game stand against Indiana and Kentucky foes.

Cincinnati fell before Notre Dame at South Bend, 54 to 17, and Miami turned back Transylvania, of Lexington, Ky., at Oxford, 31 to 26.

BITS OF BANTER IN BASEBALL

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Bits of banter about the bartering baseball boys.

Del Baker, Detroit Tiger skipper, and Jimmy Dykes, pilot of Chicago's White Sox, had their heads together on a hotel lobby davenport when news hounds spied them and swooped down.

* * *

"What kind of a deal are you guys cooking up?" a scribe asked.

Dykes answered: "Aw, we're just wondering who'll play in the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl."

And that's about all you can get from any of the managers, despite a score of trade rumors.

Most of the minor loopers, their convention chores completed, were headed home today, while the majors slipped into the spotlight for a three-day session.

There wasn't much activity, most of the "big boys" waiting to see what Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis would do about "this and that."

Things are expected to hum, however, once the high commissioner clears up his reaction to the attempts of the minors to curb his curtailment of farm and player agreement angles.

The minors got a better break than the majors from the convention hotel, for the big loopers must stand on bare floors if they do any business in the lobby—where practically all the conventions occur.

* * *

Tiring of the big parade of cigaret-dropping athletes and managers across the expensive lobby carpets, the management had the rugs removed yesterday — and they'll stay in the moth balls until the convention's over.

Rogers Hornsby, greatest right-handed hitter the game ever knew, leaned against the cigar counter while gazing around for a 1940 job.

Nearby stood Grover Cleveland Alexander who must be rated with the all-time pitching greats, also unemployed for 1940.

Old Grover looked at Hornsby and said:

"There's the greatest hitter baseball ever had. I remember the first time I pitched against him. He stepped up to the plate, and I said to myself 'Here's a kid just starting out, so I guess I'll let him hit one.'"

* * *

"I slipped a nice fat one down the middle, and he hit it out of the park. And then I spent the next 15 years trying to get him out."

* * *

Toledo of the American Association was reported on pretty good authority to have a working agreement with the St. Louis Browns for 1940, and also to have signed Zach Taylor as manager for the coming campaign. But the Mudhens won't talk, the inference being they want "the judge" to look over the papers before making an announcement.

LANDIS TAKES THE STAGE AT MAJOR LEAGUE MEET

what it said and was not open to any other interpretation.

* * *

The judge, meantime, sent word here that the boys could go ahead and make their working agreements if they wished. But none of them has done it—and none will until after Landis' temper has been sampled. He has them buffaloed.

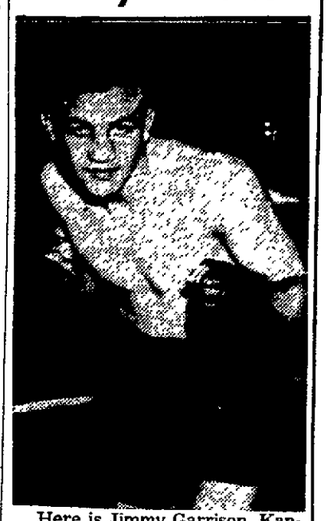
* * *

Until late in the night there were alarms about impending player deals. But Cincinnati still had not sent Ernie Lombardi to Brooklyn.

The Detroit Tigers traded Shortstop Bill Rogell to the Chicago Cubs even up for Shortstop Dick Bartell. Both are veterans.

Bartell hit .241 for the National leaguers in 107 games last season and Rogell batted .225 in 71 games in the junior circuit.

Henry's Next



Here is Jimmy Garrison, Kansas City welter, who seeks to lift Henry Armstrong's much-defended 147-pound crown when the two meet in the feature bout of Ed Bang's Cleveland Christmas Fund show, Dec. 11. Garrison, you may remember, recently stayed 10 rounds with Hammerin' Henry in Los Angeles. Also billed on the card is Al Hostak of Seattle, recognized by the N. B. A. as middle king. Hostak meets the battle-scarred veteran, Eric Seelig.

SCORE AGAIN IN LIVESTOCK EXPO

Entries From Mansfield Area Win Four More Prizes at International Show.

Entries from the Mansfield area had won four more prizes today in the International Livestock exposition at Chicago where thousands of purebred animals from the United States and Canada are being exhibited this week.

The Maxwalton farms south of Mansfield, which early in the week won a first prize with a Shorthorn junior bull, today had taken two second prizes in the breeding shorthorns class for junior and senior heifer calf.

Two prizes, a first and a second, went to entries of L. C. Hay of Loudonville in the exposition's horse show. Hay is owner of the reserve junior champion Percheron mare while another of his entries won second prize in the two-year-old Percheron mare class.

G. A. Dix and son of Delaware won first, second and third prizes with their horse show entries, taking the reserve champion American bred Percheron mare honor, second place in the four-year-old mare class and third in the three-year-old Belgian stallion class.

Directors of the American Butter institute, held in connection with the livestock exposition, elected R. M. Jewell of Mt. Vernon as vice president of the organization. Frank Pilley of Omaha, Neb., was elected president. The organization went on record as opposing any government restriction of production of dairy products.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

A great number of the new books this year describe the adventures of girls at work in various kinds of jobs. This week two more such books will be added to the collection. The first tells how a girl made her own job as the manager of an apartment house. The other girl is a library assistant.

NO VACANCIES, by Gertrude Mallette—Brenda offered her services as a substitute for the resident manager in her own apartment house. She had no idea how many responsibilities such a person would have keeping all the suites rented, providing quiet amusement for children, and maintaining the proper standards for all the staff. Brenda's enthusiasm for her job is the chief interest of the story.

BRIGHT HERITAGE, by Mary Virginia Provines—Una Gregory's work was in a public library. She learned to understand the meaning of service to the reading public, she made interesting friendships with other staff members, and finally was able to arrange for further education. Her experiences are typical of those of many young library assistants.

Plane Skips Over Big Mountains to Serve Ski Fans

ST. GALLEN, Switzerland —(AP)—The St. Gallen Aero Club operates a mountain skipping ski plane for skiers only.

Then special plane leaves airports near the railroad and main commercial air lines and skims across snow-covered Alps which few commercial planes would risk crossing to the ski resorts of the Engadine.

It is equipped with landing skis and has room only for the pilot, two passengers and three pairs of skis. The extra pair is for the pilot—just in case.

The plane's top speed is 180 k.p.h. (112 m.p.h.) and it can land on any flat stretch of ground over 40 yards in length—which is a good thing in Alpine country.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1939.

Consoling thought: More motorists make safe trips than meet with accidents.

Soon the high school football players can put their experience to good use by "running interference" for their mothers during shopping trips.

Older residents can recall a time when Cleveland's great ambition was to pass Cincinnati in population—now its big problem is to feed many who were drawn from small self-sustaining communities.

Reduction In Interest Rates

FURTHER reductions in interest rates paid by Mansfield banks, as announced yesterday, to become effective the first of the year, should not occasion surprise among persons who have taken the trouble to keep informed as to the effect New Deal administration policies have had on the banking business in general.

Instead of encouraging investment of surplus funds in productive enterprise it has been a policy of the Roosevelt administration to draw every possible cent into investments in government bonds—even to the extent of conducting expensively publicized campaigns for the sale of "baby bonds" to small investors.

From the huge reservoir of individual savings thus impounded the agencies of government have poured out money with unprecedented profligacy during the past seven years, until the federal debt total is now approaching dangerously near the $45,000,000,000 limit and there is serious talk of raising that limit—in order to open the way for more waste.

An essential to successful banking, and to interest payments to depositors, is reasonable income from loans made to individuals and to business and industrial organizations in position to use the money to advantage and able to furnish acceptable security.

Under conditions brought about by the New Deal administration, in its competition with, and antagonism to, private business, there has been a steady decline in bank revenue from loans and consequent inability to make profitable use of deposited money.

Christmas savings accounts, which had become increasingly popular in Mansfield for a number of years, were primarily intended to encourage thrift, and have never, in themselves, been profitable to the banks that conduct them. It will be especially unfortunate if discontinuance of interest payment on these accounts tends to reduce their volume or discourage the habit of saving.

It may be hoped that some incentive to systematic saving will again be given, as soon as practicable, by restoration of at least small interest on Christmas accounts.

The Deflation of a Bogeyman

SHORN of the rather impressive title of "fuehrer of the GermanAmerican bund," Fritz Kuhn now appears as a very ordinary person who is under prison sentence as a common thief and who loses the naturalized American citizenship, the obligations of which he seems to have at no time understood.

As chieftain of the Nazi forces in this country, Kuhn, for a time, took on the aspects of a quite fearsome figure whom some regarded as constituting a serious threat to the bulwarks of democracy. But in his later manifestations he has appeared as nothing more than a dense, blundering fellow who sought financial gain from his dupes and who was rightly classed as no more than a "nuisance."

It should be noted by those radically inclined persons who occasionally fall victim of the Kuhn brand of un-Americanism that this is the only country in the world that would, even for a moment, tolerate such subversive activities as those in which he engaged. Yet, in his trial he was protected by all the safeguards of justice that are accorded under the Constitution.

It was made clear by the trial judge that Kuhn was being tried only on charges of theft and forgery and not for any social, political or economic opinions."

Extent of attention drawn to Kuhn and his bund activities has probably been similar to the public curiosity in a zoo exhibit. Now that his ego has been deflated and he is being put away as nothing more than a petty thief, it is high time that he be dropped from public attention—except as he may appear later for deportation to his beloved Naziland.

Eye-Opener for Citizens

ONE of the things learned from testimony by Communists before the Dies committee should be taken to heart by the loyal and honest citizen who has always been "too busy" to be bothered with civic affairs.

The Communists, explained witnesses, know how to secure their own success even in organizations in which their membership is very small. They are skilled in parliamentary procedure and can therefore delay action they don't want. They get to meetings regularly and on time and are willing to stay until the end. They frequently "wear out the opposition" by prolonging a session beyond the others' patience.

Lenin distinguished between the professional revolutionist and the non-professional. The former made it his business to be on the job all the time. He therefore had an advantage over the citizen who let other interests crowd out his interest in public affairs.

It has been said many times in recent years that democracy's best answer to communism, fascism and naziism would be "to make democracy work." It sounds simple, but it requires considerably more time, attention and self-sacrifice on the part of every freedom-loving citizen than many are willing to give.

Sensible Price Moderation

WITH steel production up almost to capacity, the volume as great as it was before the break in 1929, and no indication of a slump, it is reassuring to see that prices are not soaring. Quotations for the first quarter of next year are very little higher than the moderate rates of the present year. Pig iron prices likewise remain moderate.

It is the usual thing for speculators and producers to lose their heads, and the market to run wild, in such an expanding market as has been entered. But the industry has apparently learned from experience and is trying to keep prices steady.

This is justifiable as far as investors are concerned, because the steel industry can make a good profit on the present volume of production at current prices. It is fine for industry in general, because it encourages expansion of many other industries, especially building. It is the surest way to get the whole business system at a prosperous level and keep it there.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There have been few moments throughout New York's long and sordid but magnificent history when racketeers, both petty and great, haven't found some means to hornswoggle the public. Commerce has been the main springboard to their activities. There was once a man who cornered the artichoke market and became known as the artichoke king. The Poultry Racket was for years one of the city's most obnoxious abuses. Rum and opium have fed a bright stream of gold into the hands of men who operate outside the law, just as they have left a trail of blood through the asphalt streets.

Yesterday what may be called a cheap off-shoot of the poultry racket brought chagrin to some 200 New York butchers, gave comedy relief to the spectators, and provided enough "answers" for half a dozen George Kaufman plays.

Only, these men were in dead earnest. These 200 had been dragged before the Bureau of Weights and Measures for over-charging and also under-weighing the public.

EVERY man there had an excuse. Every man there had tampered with his scales in some way, so that the public had been paying advanced prices for less than full weight. This was the division of poultry butchers. Get a load of some of these excuses:

A fellow who operates a market on Broadway, Long Island City: When the law demanded an explanation for short-weighing a customer, he declared: "I had just been in the restaurant next door and got a cup of coffee, and when I got back to my store my glasses were all steamed up and I made a mistake in reading the scales."

"Guilty," boomed the judge, who appeared to be steamed up too.

A lady offender came next. She was from Brooklyn, charged with short-weighing four ounces on a turkey. "I am near-sighted and don't see the scales so good," she explained.

"Then next time lean closer," sighed the director, who then informed her that she was fined $5.

Another offender stepped forward smiling and offered the ingenuous excuse of excitement. . . . "I was having a bad day, Sir," he explained. "I had only sold two turkeys out of my large stock all day, and when I saw this customer come in I got excited and short-weighed her seven ounces." . . .

"Well, calm yourself and pay the Bureau $5," was the verdict.

THERE was a momentary stir when the next man a Brooklyn offender, shouted at the director: "Why do you bother the little people? Why don't you go after the big people instead of abusing the little people?"

For this outburst our hero was handed a court summons. The charge against him was a little more advanced than the others. While weighing poultry for his customers, the charge read, he had neglected to remove a few canned goods and also an eight ounce slab of lead from his scales. The lead was wrapped in a piece of paper and lay alongside the weighing tray.

Next in line was an 18-year-old clerk, who explained a four-ounce short weight in this manner: "Mr. Director, I have only two years' schooling in my native Italy, and I cannot figure so very good."

But he was able to figure out $5 in cash, which was his fine, and the offending one was abjured to depart and sin no more.

WHOSE TURN IS IT NOW?

Russia Aspires to Sea Supremacy

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—With the domination of Finland, which seems not likely to take long, Russia has placed herself in a position to become the great sea power she so long has boasted of being.

Finland is the end of Act I of the Russian play of conquest. In that act she has, or will have, absorbed the Baltic.

Act II, competent sources inform us, will concern the Balkans.

The first step of a Russian boot across the border spelled the end of Finland as a free state. Even with Russia's lackadaisical transport system, the conquest appeared inevitable. The time required could only depend upon the extent to which Russia wanted to push the conquest.

Painful Coercion Next?

ONE source, an observer who has spent many years in Russia and the Baltic country, told us he felt certain Russia would not be content with mere technical domination of Finland, as she was in the case of the other Baltic states of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

So bitterly do the Finns and Russians hate each other, he said, that the "cooperation" which Russia will demand cannot be obtained except by a painful process of coercion. He thought the coercion would be bloody.

Within Finland is a prosperous paper industry which it seems certain Russia will insist on operating for her own interests. That is the picture painted there for us.

In the Lap of the Gods.

FROM a coldly strategic standpoint, Russia needed Finland as part of her defense—or offensive scheme. It leaves no weak spot along the Baltic coast, offers Russia another all-weather seaport on the Atlantic, even if it is out through the northern end, and finally, it places the Soviet within snatching distance of Atlantic seaports now belonging to Norway, and of the rich Swedish iron mines in the Arctic. Whether Russia takes this next step is in the lap of the gods, but there has been some Scandinavian shivering about it.

Coming Sea Power.

WITH the territory already taken in the Baltic, Russia has placed at her disposal two important new shipyards, as well as enhanced the value of the one at Salingrad which she has been building up extensively of late. Riga, in Latvia, has yards which can be expanded into battleship capacity, while Libau, in Estonia, is a port with shipyards once used by the Russian fleet, and now much used by Baltic mercantile vessels.

Russia has boasted that she will be a sea power second to none within a couple of years. That isn't time enough, but the facilities now are available. Moreover, she has a well-ordered shipyard at Sebastopol (remember The Charge of the Light Brigade) on the Black sea.

The involvement of England, France and Germany in war has left Russia almost fancy free to carry out the conquests to which she has aspired for generations.

Absorption of the Baltic countries was largely a recapture of territories she had before the World war. Now, our sources predict, Bessarabia, which Rumania got from Russia after the World war, will be the Soviet's next conquest. It will be the beginning of Act II of the Russian drama of conquest.

Only Germany appears in a position to stop Russia now, and she is busy. All of England's hard won central Asian possessions and protectorates lie open to the Russians. Between Russia and these central Asian conquests, stands Turkey, aided within limits by Britain, and Italy in so far as she can organize the Balkan countries.

One strategist predicted that the next Russian target after Bessarabia, would be Constantinople—the keystone to almost half the world.

Thought for Clerks.

Here is something practical in the Christmas spirit-goodwill-to-men (and women.) How about bestores? This is their rush season, ing thoughtful of the clerks in the Their hours are longer and their work is harder.

Now, some people have no regular schedules. They can do their shopping this week as well as next, and in the morning as well as in the afternoon. Wouldn't it be thoughtful of them to wedge in their shopping between crowd times?

And then, of course, there is the increased need for good nature and courtesy, that comes from crowds and weariness and hurry that accompany the last few days of Christmas shopping. It is not too early to sound the old warning. "Do your Christmas shopping early." And up to the last minute it is well to keep in mind that the joy of the Christmas season is increased by sweetness of temper and consideration for the convenience and well being of others.—Newark Advocate.

"Average Child" Scientific Myth.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Please give average weight, height, time of tooth eruption, etc., of the average child.

In this connection it is well to recall the phrase of Dr. I. Newton Kugelmass: "The myth of the average child."

The tables of height and weight, etc., are purely averages and the individual children vary from these averages considerably. Parents should not feel disturbed if this occurs. For instance, Baby A has his first tooth at three months, sits up at six months, stands at eight months, walks at a year and talks at 18 months. Baby B has his first tooth at eight months, sits up at nine months, stands at a year, walks a 18 months and talks at 13 months. Both of these babies are perfectly normal and healthy.

At 18 months Baby A weighs 32 pounds and does not appear overweight because his big skeletal framework carries his weight. Baby B at 18 months weighs 30 pounds, is short, fat and dimpled. For a baby of Italian parentage, this is natural. At 18 months of age a baby of English parentage weighs 28 pounds and is rather long and thin.

At the same age a baby of German parentage is wide and stocky and weighs 27 pounds. A Negro baby with a small trunk and long extremities weighs 26 pounds, and a Puerto Rican baby the same age weighs 24 pounds. The statistical average for 18 months is supposed to be 26 pounds, yet all the babies mentioned are normal and healthy.

What is the best and purest kind of soap?

It is not possible to be dogmatic about this. Most soaps which can be purchased commercially are mild and pure. White soaps are not necessarily more pure than other kinds because they are bleached; they possibly contain a slight excessive alkali which may be irritating to extremely delicate skins.

On the other hand, not all colored soaps have a natural color. The natural color of soap is green or yellow, depending on the oils used in its manufacture. For practical purposes, any toilet soap in ordinary use, except artificially-colored and perfumed soaps, is satisfactory for delicate skin and baby skin.

What is the status of the refugee physician coming to the United States?

From 1930 to 1938, 3,165 immigrant physicians were admitted to the United States; of these 1,221 came from Germany and Austria. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, 1,384 immigrant physicians came to this country, of whom 819 came from Germany, including the area formerly known as Austria.

In most states physicians cannot be licensed to practice until they have taken out their citizenship papers or at least their first citizenship papers. In four states, Arizona, California, Indiana and Vermont, and the District of Columbia, neither citizenship nor first papers are required. In 27 states citizenship is required before license to practice is granted, and in others first papers are required.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover's demand that Roosevelt withdraw the American ambassador from Russia has put the present incumbent of the White House on an amusing and paradoxical spot.

Inside fact is that FDR seriously considered recalling Ambassador Steinhardt some time ago, but the state department opposed. And now that Mr. Hoover has decided to do some coaching from the sidelines, Roosevelt is not so likely to follow the advice. For one sure way of not getting something done around the White House is to have Mr. Herbert Hoover urge it.

Not many people knew it at the time, but Roosevelt was very irked at Moscow during the seizure of the City of Flint. At that time, Ambassador Steinhardt suffered all sorts of indignities. When he tried to telephone Captain Gainnard, commander of the vessel, the connection was cut. When he tried to see Foreign Minister Molotov, he was kept cooling his heels for ten hours. When he went any place outside of the Embassy, he was shadowed.

It is a long established rule of international law that an ambassador can see the president or king of any country immediately. An ambassador represents the person of his chief. An insult to him is an insult to the head of his state.

So Roosevelt, increasingly provoked at the Russians, proposed to show his displeasure by recalling Steinhardt, though he did not want to sever diplomatic relations.

The state department, however, objected that Stalin would not give a snap of his fingers whether the United States kept an ambassador in Moscow or not. Only the United States would suffer, since Steinhardt could accomplish far more by remaining on the job than a charge d'affaires or other members of the embassy staff.

So Steinhardt remained, and regardless of Herbert Hoover the state department still leans toward this policy. They believe that withdrawing our ambassador or severing diplomatic relations merely would be cutting off our nose to spite our face. For they have to do business with the Russians even if they don't like them.

Navy Advice.

ACTING Secretary Charles Edison, who has been battling against entrenched navy bureaucracy, gave the brasshats a new shock the other day.

One of the admirals brought in a report on a ship-building question and remarked: "We're all in agreement on this."

"All?" asked Edison.

"Yes, sir."

"I'm sorry to hear that," shot back Edison. "I'd feel a lot better about this report if there were a few dissents. What this navy needs is fewer 'yes' men and more 'no' men. In my private business, if there are no disagreements, I make some. It helps keep everyone on their toes. You ought to try that sometime."

Short Whirls.

JIM LANDIS, dean of the Harvard law school, is having a tough time deciding the fate of West Coast union leader Harry Bridges, alleged Communist. Landis, arbitrator in the case, has been stewing over it for two months . . . . The Russian attack upon Finland has sharpened New Deal eyes in looking for communists. . . . The SS Manhattan and SS Washington, prize ships of the United States Lines now barred from the North Atlantic, soon will call regularly at Genoa. Roosevelt personally helped to work out this route . . . Son Elliott Roosevelt, who plans to sell Texas radio time to Father Coughlin despite the broadcasters' code, as a sequel, is having a hard time selling his own program. One big company fears Elliott is too likely to incur public illwill.

Next on Stalin's List.

ALTHOUGH Finland is supplying the fireworks, two most important countries to watch are Italy and Rumania.

It is risky to make predictions, but some state department officials believe Italy is closer to throwing her weight on the side of the Allies than ever before. And the big reason is Russia.

Press dispatches from Rome tell how Italian crowds booed the Russian embassy during the attack upon Finland. This, however, was mere surface sentiment. What the Italians really are worried about is Rumania, which they believe is next on Stalin's list.

Confidential diplomatic dispatches indicate that German troops are concentrating in what was once Czechoslovakia for a drive through Hungary on Transylvanian Rumania, where there is a large German minority. Simultaneously Russia would put the squeeze on Rumania through Bessarabia.

Some advices go further and indicate that the Russians probably will not stop at Bessarabia (once Russian) but will move on to Moldavia and Wallachia. This, together with the probable reconstruction of Bulgaria, which already is under Soviet domination, should make Russia the all-powerful country in the Balkans. It will move Russian troops up close to Jugoslavia and seriously threaten Italy.

The creation of a Balkan alliance and sphere of influence has been Mussolini's chief dream, now that his other Hitler-inspired dreams have faded. So if Russia smashes this one, Il Duce not only will be very, very hurt, but much more sympathetic toward the Allies.

Count Ciano.

AMIABLE hard-working Billy Phillips, U. S. Ambassador to Rome, called on Count Ciano the other day to inquire about Italy's progress in negotiating Balkan alliances. Count Ciano is foreign minister of Italy, the son-in-law of Dictator Benito, and is supposed to know what is going on.

But his reply to Ambassador Phillips was: "All I know is what I read in the newspapers."

In diplomatic circles, his remark is considered most significant.

The Taft camp is miffed at Hanford MacNider, ex-Legion Commander and Hoover's Minister to Canada. Originally MacNider plumped for Taft, pledging himself at the Long Island mansion of Trubee Davidson. But now he has the presidential bug himself and is busy boosting his own candidacy.

First Snowfall

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

FOR one whole day the winter sky was leaden. Heavy mist hung about the jagged hills at evening, like sable draperies. Night came an hour sooner than the usual time. Lights of moving cars shone back and forth across the valley before the hour of sunset. The air was still, as before an impending storm.

At early evening we heard rain and sleet beat harshly upon our low metal house roof. We heard it sift down through the brambles and the clinging leaves of scrub oak upon the hill above us. All night long, between intervals of sleep, I heard the constant downpour, until lulled by the rhythmic lullaby, I slept far into the morning.

Sunshine, and showers of rain and snow squalls followed during the day. By evening a north wind blew hard against our front room door. The children grouped around the large old stove, where flames beat back the cold with tropic heat.

When the second morning came, familiar sights of yesterday were blotted out. Along the hills, and spread upon the level stretches of meadow land, lay the pure white covering of the first snowfall. Whiteness clung to low-growing trees and shrubs and the eastern gable of the quaint red barn had each separate board outlined with a thin white misty stripe. The weeds and withered grass about the northern roadside were trimmed in soft fragile chains of white, so delicate that when I touched one thread the entire bower crumbled and disappeared.

I poked my face and head within a larger snowy nook, with caution, and felt the cool tang press against my face like something visible. The fragrance of moist earth was mingled with the fresh cold odor of the snow.

Within that hooded covering there was a silence, acute, disturbing and yet satisfying. A vague substance of something hoped for, an evidence of something unseen. So strange and beautiful a silence—such as makes the human heart ache in its presence—is only found within the sheltering walls of virgin snow.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PRESIDENT HEARS NAVY NEEDS TRAINED MEN, AUXILIARY SHIPS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Acting Secretary Charles Edison has reported the expanding navy was handicapped by a shortage of trained officers and men and needed more auxiliary vessels, but otherwise was at a high state of efficiency.

In his annual report to President Roosevelt, Edison said that "the navy is prepared to exercise its vital function of bringing the enemy to our terms as quickly as possible, while keeping him at a safe distance from our shores."

The complaint of a shortage in warship crews was drafted prior to the European war and before Roosevelt directed the addition of about 29,000 men in his Sept. 8 proclamation of a limited national emergency. Officials said, however, that it will be some months before all are recruited and trained.

Edison's report covered the fiscal twelve months ending last June 30. In that period warcraft, aside from submarines, operated with only 85.6 per cent of their full complements of sailors, he said, and vessels of the fleet lacked their full quotas of officers.

Blaming Congress for failing to provide sufficient appropriations, Edison commented:

"Although the allowances prescribed proved adequate for the peacetime training and operation of the individual ships, they are not sufficient to provide for a speedy and efficient mobilization which contemplates the complete and efficient manning of useful combatant ships, now in full commission, in reduced commission, or out of commission, in addition to many auxiliary vessels that will be obtained from the merchant marine."

He said official studies indicated 8,671 line officers were needed for all ships, built and building. There was only 6,877 on the active list June 30, although Congress authorized an increase from 6,531 to 7,562. The shortage is chiefly in the lower ranks.

Detailing the progress of construction, Edison said 18 fighting ships and five auxiliaries were commissioned. Work was started or ordered commenced on 41 or 43 warships for which Congress provided initial funds. Altogether 105 ships of all types were listed as under construction on June 30.

The new ships included two 45,000-ton battleships. Edison said recommendations as to the size of other capital craft would be "made from time to time as necessary to best meet the needs of national security."

"The status of our naval auxiliaries is still very unsatisfactory," he advised, adding that "it may be expected also that more auxiliaries, in addition to replacements, will be required to meet the demands of our expanding fleet."

"The creation of a merchant marine of modern, fast, and efficiently manned vessels is a measure of great importance to national security as an auxiliary war reserve of vessels not needed for use in peacetime, but urgently and promptly required in war," he commented.

FIGHTS CRIME WITH WIENERS

DEFIANCE, O. —(INS)— Fighting petty crime with weiners!

That's the formula of Defiance Police Chief Karl A. Weaner—and it has met with success surprising even to him. Petty thievery and misdemeanors have fallen off almost to nothing since the chief inaugurated his system of "weaner" roasts for those delinquents on his list of "good bad boys."

Chief Weaner even went to the extent of building a large outdoor oven at his own home as a locale for the affairs. Now he invites boys from his select list to weiner roasts, and "the frequency of these affairs is decided by the infrequency of misdemeanors," as he explained it.

The sorority put on a model initiation ceremony, followed by a business session during which Miss Maxine Jones, Delta Theta president, appointed Mrs. Carl Adams, Miss Genieve Diesem, Miss Mildred Angle and Miss Harriett Roth to the Christmas welfare committee. Mrs. Ward Ingraham gave a report of the dental clinic.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Saves You Much Money, and It's So Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar in 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

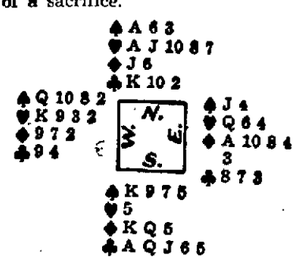
WATCH THOSE DISCARDS

Keeping your eye on the cards thrown off by your opponents and thus developing a clear picture of the cards remaining unplayed, points the way to many of the prettiest plays in the game. Doing that may result in your making a difficult contract, producing an overtrick or cutting down the size of a sacrifice.

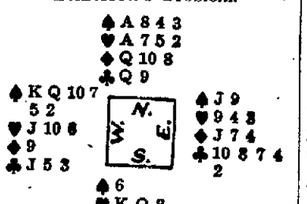


(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

Here South bid 1-Club, North 1-Heart, South 1-Spade, North 3-Hearts and South 3-No Trumps, at most tables of a duplicate tournament. Top score came at one table where West led the spade 2 to the jack and king. This declarer then led the diamond 5 to the jack and ace, and took the return with the spade ace. Next followed five clubs and two diamonds.

On that sequence East had played three clubs and four diamonds, West two clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and a spade. Certain that West had the spade queen and therefore probably two hearts, East having three hearts. South led his singleton heart and played the dummy's 10. After East took this he had to lead into North's tenace, so that five-odd were made, as against only four-odd where the declarer took the heart ace because he could not finesse the suit twice.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If using the Blackwood convention, how should North and South bid to reach a diamond grand slam here?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

"Suppose we forget the whole thing, Ede," I said. "It's all water under the bridge and all the rest of it. What's the use of bringing it up any more? I don't bear any grudge, and I know you don't. What we all need is sleep. I'm going to tuck these pillows into the car"—I picked up three from the couch—"and each of us can take a corner and snooze. How about it? Can you sleep in a car?"

"Better tell her yes, Ede," Dicky advised easily, playing up to me. "You'll fall 90 miles in the dame's estimation if you don't qualify. She prides herself upon being able to sleep better in a car, with her head on a pillow tucked against the side of a car, than she can in a regular bed. Me, I'm not such an enthusiast. I can sleep in a car all right, if I have to, but give me a wide, deep mattress for mine. However, I always trail along with my frau—it makes for peace in the family—and something tells me you'd better do the same thing."

"It just happens," she said, "that I sleep very comfortable in a car. I prefer a bed, but I can manage very well with a cushioned car seat. So bring on your pillow, Madge. I could do very well with some sleep in the next two or three hours."

And then came the signal we had expected. There was a quick knock upon the door and Dicky admitted Gus, who said simply, "Mrs. Underwood says to come now." Dicky attempted to take the pillows from me, but I knew that Lillian expected him to have one of us on either side of him, as we went to the car, and that he ought not to be hampered by pillows. I told him as much as I tossed one to Edith, keeping the other two myself, and Gus picked up the pieces of luggage which Lillian had left for him, as well as my own, and preceded us to the front of the building.

Lillian, Harry and one guard were in the Underwood limiusine, drawn up in front of our armored car. The other guard came up to us when we had entered the car and spoke in a low voice.

"Mrs. Underwood wants to know the name and address of the hotel at which we are to stop first," he said.

"Does he mean mine?" Edith asked, and at Dicky's nod of assent she leaned forward and gave the guard the necessary instructiions in an undertone. The man repeated them, and then went back to the Underwood car, climbing in behind the other guard. Then the Underwood car moved away, followed closely by our armored one, which had been tightly locked, and ours in turn followed by still another closed sedan, occupied by four men, who, I knew, were heavily armed.

Evidently Lillian was taking no slightest chance of anything going wrong, a fact which Dicky evidently realized as much as I, for when the armored car stopped and Edith half-rose from her seat, Dicky and I simultaneously put our hands out to stop her.

"Old Lil is running this," Dicky said. "Better not get out until she gives the word."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday December 8

An extremely strenuous day, with affairs moving at high tension and excitement, is likely, judging by the predominating lunar and mutual aspects. Carefully-executed, constructive plans and major objectives may be attained under high pressure and with the co-operation of influential persons. However, these may suggest a drastic about-face in methods, ways and means, even to the point of complete change of environment and associates.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a year of great activity and initiative, with the forces and faculties pitched to high levels of achievement. Decidedly constructive and practical ideas may enlist the ready support of those in power and authority. But it seems that a definite change of plans, processes, place and personnel may be needed for attaining the richest objectives. Manage this with equanimity, precision and faith.

A child born on this day may be richly endowed with forces and faculties for attaining major success in life through its resourcefulness, originality, audacity and splendid initiative. It may have its eccentricities.

Dies Committee to Check on Russo-Mexican Oil Plan

DIG FURTHER INTO FIELD OF RED INFLUENCE

Investigators Plan to Call Exiled Trotsky to Testify in Texas Inquiry.

(By International News Service)

ORANGE, Tex.—A document purporting to show how Soviet Russia planned for Mexico to sell its expropriated oil to belligerent powers will be introduced at the investigation to be held in Texas by the Dies committee on un-Americanism, Chairman Martin Dier (D. Tex.) said today.

The document will be introduced as one phrase of the Texas investigation, to be held before January 3, for the purpose of exposing asserted communist plans for penetrating the western hemisphere, particularly Latin America, Dies stater.

Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian leader, now living in Mexico City, and Diego Rivera, Mexican muralist, will come to the United States for the committee hearing in Texas providing permission can be obtained for Trotsky to cross the border.

A prominent Mexican leader's name also will be brought into the investigation to authenticate documents which Dies investigators have uncovered, it was stated by Robert Stripling, secretary of the Dies committee. Striyling declined to name the witness.

Shripling said Trotsky would be able to give extensive information on the activity of communist agents who, he said, have been using Mexico as a base from which to spread soviet doctrines in Latin America.

The document concerning Mexico's oil supply, Stripling said, indicated that Russia's plan was to take advantage of war and its destruction to further the spread of communism in the belligerent countries.

Reasons for holding the committee investigation in South Texas were that Congressman Dies has been ordered by his physician to rest as much as possible and that Trotsky did not wish to travel far beyond the Mexican border.

The Dies committee has guaranteed the safe return of Trotesky to his haven in Mexico City.

100 DOCTORS AT FINAL SESSION

Lectures on Appendicitis and Childhood Convulsions End Post-Graduate Series.

More than 100 physicians from northcentral Ohio discussed the treatment of appendicitis, tularemia and convulsions in children at the final session last night of the Ohio Medical association's regional post-graduate lecture course at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Lecturers at the meeting were Dr. A. E. Brant of Youngstown, who talked on "Reducing the Mortality of Acute Appendicitis" and Dr. Edward A. Wagner, Cincinnati, whose topic was "Convulsions in Childhood."

The appendicitis mortality rate can be further reduced by a speedier examination of persons having symptoms of the disease and prompt action in the removal of the appendix Dr. Brant said.

He pointed out that the mortality rate has been reduced from seven per cent to about one per cent in the past 10 years.

Dr. Wagner said convulsions provided the only true emergency case for doctors who treat children's diseases since children afflicted with convulsions require immediate aid. Children from one to three years old may have convulsions without causing undue alarm but at ages over that they may be suffering from a more serious ailment he said.

Children frequently "outgrow" the tendency to have convulsions at 12 or 13 years, he added.

Dr. C. R. Damron presided during the session, the sixth in a series held in Mansfield during the fall months to keep physicians in this area abreast with the latest medical developments.

AERO CHAPTER LAYS PLANS FOR TRAINING OF STUDENT FLIERS

Officers of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association will meet tonight to plan for the selection of 10 students who will be named in Mansfield to receive flying instructions under the Civil Aeronautics Authority civilian pilot training program.

The aero chapter was named to sponsor the program by Earl Johnson, state director of aeronautics, last week when he announced that Mansfield was one of the three Ohio cities selected as training centers.

The program here is to be part of the CAA's plan to train 700 non-college citizens as pilots in a program similar to the one provided for 10,000 college and university students.

Officers of the local group will meet in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms to set up a committee for selecting the students to participate in the program here, Norman Kann, president of the chapter said.

The program, like that for colleges, will be divided into two categories: ground and flight training. Anyone is eligible for ground courses but flight courses are limited to the 10 attaining the highest rating in examinations to be held at conclusion of the first phase of the training program.

Ground courses are expected to be started immediately. Flight courses will be held from April 1 to Sept. 1. Candidates for the flight courses must attain a passing mark of 70 per cent or more in each subject of the examination at the end of ground training.

Women will be admitted without restriction to ground courses, CAA regulations state, but only one in 10 will be eligible to receive flying instruction. All candidates must pass a rigid physical examination as well as mental examinations and must be between the ages of 18 and 25.

FASCISTS CHART MEANS TO HALT RUSSIAN DRIVE

Italy's Grand Council to Decide Tonight on New Anti-Bolshevism Plan.

(By United Press)

ROME—Italy's supreme Fascist body is expected tonight to agree on a program of definite action to oppose the spread of Bolshevism in the Balkans.

The Fascist grand council meets, for the first time in eight months, at the usual dramatic hour of 10 p. m.

It was believed not only that it would agree in policy to oppose Russian expansionism in southeastern Europe but that it might issue a formal communique making it plain that Italy will oppose the domination of Communism in the Balkans at all cost.

Premier Benito Mussolini was represented in well informed quarters as regarding the threat of the spread of Communism through Europe as of the greatest gravity.

He is determined, it was said, to keep Russia from accomplishing in southeastern Europe what it is now attempting in Finland.

It was reported that the council in a communique might specifically condemn Russia's attack on Finland. This report was taken with some reserve. But it was regarded as of undoubted significance that Fascist students, rigidly disciplined, have conducted demonstrations in favor of Finland and against Communism in recent days.

Several days ago it was said in an authoritative quarter that Italy would intervene if Russia attempted to move into the Balkans. This informant reaffirmed his statement today. It was understood that he made the reaffirmation particularly because of the "Communist international" publication suggestion that Rumania enter a "mutual aid" pact with Russia.

Any Italian intervention in the Balkans, it was said, might be effected along lines pursued in the Spanish civil war. In Spain, Italian "legionnaires"—infantry, artillery and fliers using Italian planes, contributed materially to the nationalist victory.

CHILDREN RAID SANTA CLAUS' STOREHOUSE AND THEN REPENT

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY—Thirty boys and girls, impatient for Christmas, stormed Santa Claus' storehouse and ran away with 400 toys.

Later seven repentant raiders helped the Santa Claus Club, Inc., recover most of the toys, intended for poor children. But scores of playthings, including 50 dolls to be given to orphan girls, were missing or broken.

The children, 6 to 16 years old, met outside an abandoned church where the toys were stored.

"They've moved away. They don't want those toys in the basement," said the youngsters. "They'd have taken them if they did."

That was the signal for the raid.

Boxes packed full of dolls, teddy bears, fire engines, model airplanes and doll furniture were ripped open. Many toys were trampled and torn in the excitement.

Fred J. Hoelderle, who had helped repair the playthings, heard of the raid and hurried over. Boys and girls, their arms full of toys, scurried in all directions.

Hoelderle recognized some of the boys and notified police. The youngsters helped recover the toys.

"We didn't think those kids would steal from us," lamented William P. Dwyer, manager of the club. "Why, we've given most of them lessons in toy making."

He asked police not to arrest any of the children.

SHOT TO DEATH

Shoe Manufacturer Found Dead Of Shotgun Wound.

AUBURN, N. Y., —(AP)— Buford H. Jones, 60, president of Dunn & McCarthy, Inc., "Enna Jettick" shoe manufacturers, was found dead of a shotgun wound in the bathroom of his home today.

Acting Coroner Robert Thomas said the family chauffeur, George Gracey, found the body after reading a note from Jones instructing: "Take care of the dog and don't open the bathroom door." The manufacturer's head was blasted by the discharge of a shotgun which lay nearby.

HUNT TRUSTIES

Police Asked to Search for 2 Who Escaped From O. S. R.

Police throughout Ohio today were asked to search for two trusties who escaped from the Ohio State reformatory yesterday afternoon.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke identified the pair as James Callicoat, 20, and George Townsend, 18, both of whom were serving terms for auto theft. They fled while working in the institution orchard.

Glattke said their absence was detected during the afternoon and that a posse of guards searched unsuccessfully until after dark.

Callicoat, sentenced from Jackson county to serve one to 20 years, was received May 6. Townsend was sentenced April 25 from Knox county.

WILL GIVES CLUE

AKRON—(AP)—A will penciled in Hungarian which was found on the body was the only clue police had today to the identity of a man, about 50, who was struck and killed last night by an automobile.

You look at the advertised prices, add something more for transportation and accessories—and there you begin to go wrong!

For one of the things that give this Buick its buy-value is the number of items included in the price that cost extra elsewhere!

For instance — the Flash-Way Direction Signal, standard on all models, costs around $10 extra elsewhere — even without the automatic cut-off.

Every Buick comes to you with automatic choke and an efficient oil cleaner—it's surprising how often they're sold as "extras."

Every Buick has dual horns, dual sun visors, locks on both front doors, electric lighter, assist straps,† robe cord,† glove compartment lock, front-door armrests, gas tank lock—all things often charged for elsewhere.

Every Buick has a Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine, micropoise-balanced after assembly. Every one has two stabilizers, and rear coil springs that never need lubrication.

All have torque-tube drive, battery under hood, two ways of starting. Super and Roadmaster have front seats close to five feet wide and all models have Safety Plate Glass all around.

And all this is included in the at-the-factory price. Why not see the nearest Buick dealer and see how little more it costs delivered to your door?

†Sedan models only

SLAY OWN PRIZE

Swiss Riflemen Forced to Kill Bear Won in Contest.

ZURICH, Switzerland —(AP)— Members of the crack Swiss rifle team which won the international rifle meet at Helsingfors, Finland, in 1937, were called to the Zurich zoo recently to shoot their own trophy.

The prize they brought back in 1937 was a Finnish brown bear cub. They presented it to the zoo where it shared quarters with three Swiss brown bears and a polar bear.

Recently the Finn grew combative and mauled his Swiss and Arctic companions so ferociously that zoo officials called in the rifle team to execute it. The culprit has been stuffed and sent to the National Rifle Museum in Berne to be exhibited with other Swiss shooting trophies.

The first auto to cross the U. S.—in 1901—took 61 days for the trip.

Tough Cop Such Fine Cook He's Prey For Widows

(By Associated Press)

OMAHA, Neb. — Down at Omaha police headquarters Nels Sorensen is known as more than 200 pounds of tough cop.

At home, Nels is 200 pounds of expert cook and housekeeper—so excellent that he has had seven proposals of marriage from widows who read about his job of home-making for five children left motherless nine years ago.

When he sheds his coat in the kitchen at home, Nels has no hard and fast routine for turning out delectable dishes for his husky children. He just takes the general outline of a recipe and adds or subtracts from it until he gets what he wants.

Only three children are at home now—two are out earning their own way. "It's been a job and I'd hate to do it again. But when I think of my kids out in California and the others getting ready to go away from home, I hate to see it ending," the "tough cop" mused.

Explaining why he never had wanted a housekeeper, Nels said "when there was any disciplining of the kids to be done, I was the one to do it."

the girl to go with him but denied any part in the other molestings which have occurred in the county in the past six months.

In a line-up at police headquarters this morning, two Butler girls identified the man from among several prisoners as the one who visited the school Tuesday.

While County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott questioned the suspect further today, Remy and Freeman said they planned to bring in at least eight other small school girls who have been molested in the county.

They said no charges had been filed against the man and that he was held on an open charge for investigation.

City and county authorities have received at least eight complaints about a child molester who has picked up small girls and taken them into the country in his car where he put them out of the machine unharmed.

saying that the Russian frontline forces there, counting airmen, numbered at least 100,000 with another 100,000 in reserve. Helsinki military experts have estimated that about 200,000 Russians were engaged in the campaign on all fronts.

In the Petsamo region, northernmost Finland, the Russians reported no new advances.

(Finnish reports to Helsinki asserted that all attacks of the Red army had been repulsed yesterday and that eight tanks were destroyed. Among 80 wrecked since the war started last Thursday morning.

(The eight tanks were said to have been destroyed near Valkjarvi, near the center of the Karelian isthmus, about nine miles from the Russian border.

(The Finns also announced that two Russian planes were brought down when their enemy staged an "unsuccessful" raid on Petsamo, the arctic port, the planes being among 36 shot down in the week-old conflict.)

Tass, the official Russian news agency, meanwhile issued a denial of Norwegian reports of Tuesday that Finnish airmen had destroyed 60 Russian planes at Murmansk with incendiary bombs. This, Tass said, was a "complete fabrication."

Finnish Diplomats Leave Moscow Tonight.

MOSCOW—(UNS)—Representatives of the United States embassy today were expected to be the only delegates from a neutral nation to bid farewell to the Finnish legation staff when it quits Moscow, probably tonight.

As dean of the diplomatic corps, Baron Von Schulenberg, German ambassador, suggested that neutral missions, except that of the United States, do not participate in a farewell demonsration for the Finns at the station, since it might have the appearance of an anti-Soviet manifestation.

Why an exception was made in the case of the United States was not explained.

One week after the war started, Baron Yrjoe-Koskinen, Finnish minister, and 29 members of his staff, were expected to be granted permission to leave tonight.

cently bought 45,000,000 Finnish marks worth of Finnish bank notes.

Officials in Helsinki said they could not understand why the Russians should do this. Nevertheless, a careful record was being kept of the serial numbers of all bank notes available.

Claiming further destruction of Russian airplanes, Finnish military forces today faced Russian troops that were reported to number 500,000 men in the Carelian isthmus and the sectors north of Lake Lagoda alone.

According to military observers in Helsingfors, these concentrations of Soviet troops are equipped with 1,000 tanks and 500 planes.

For the second time, Finnish officials asserted, their planes bombed Russian bases near Murmansk, destroying more planes in addition to the 60 said to have been destroyed on the first raid.

(The London Daily Telegraph in a dispatch from Helsingfors said the Finns also bombed the border town of Terijoki, where a "people's republic government" was established as a puppet of Moscow with the Finnish Communist Otto Kuusinen as president and foreign minister.)

Report Germany Sells Arms to Finns.

BY JOE ALEX MORRIS,
(UP Foreign News Editor)

Maerial as well as moral support was flowing to Finland today in her war against the Red army, with Great Britain, France, Italy, Jugoslavia, Hungary and Sweden reportedly sending or preparing to send war supplies.

Even Nazi Germany was reported selling arms to Finland and to Rumania, which had been warned by the Communist International to accept a mutual aid pact with Soviet Russia, but the position of Adolf Hitler—even now stepping up the tempo of fighting on the western front—remained to be clarified.

In broad outline, it appeared possible that the European conflict might yet turn into a struggle where the main issue would be shifted from the battle for power between England and Germany to a technical crusade for or against Bolshevism and in which a desperate Germany might be forced to join up with Russia.

For that reason, Germany's material aid to Finland must remain an obscure factor until Hitler's fate in warfare against the allies forces him to a more definite position in relation to the soviets.

But for the other powers, the question appears to be more definite. Britain and France are steadily closing the door against the possibility of Russian aid in the war against Germany, possibly because the government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in London considers communism a worse enemy than Nazism.

question coincided with spotlighting of the problem by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.), who came here to address a farmers union convention in the St. Paul auditorium tonight.

Meanwhile, Dewey and his advisors awaited the repercussions from his keynote speech last night, when he declared that "government hostility, repressive taxation and economic quackery" have stifled American enterprise.

He quoted President Roosevelt as having said "Our industrial plant is built. The problem just now is whether under existing conditions it is not overbuilt."

"Here," Dewey said, "is the whole outlook of the New Deal: the established plants are all right. But the new plants, the new adventures, the new industries, are unnecessary and even possibly undesirable. There is nothing left to do. All that remains is to divide up what we got from the Indians."

"With this philosophy I totally and absolutely disagree," he continued.

Our Great Plants Are "Delivering the Goods"

The Chrysler Corporation's great plants are alive with activity . . . the workers are busy in the team-play of trained minds and skilled hands . . . building the finest, most popular automobiles the Corporation ever built . . . the 1940 Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler.

WHEN WE SAY that Chrysler Corporation's great plants are "Delivering the Goods" we mean everything the phrase means . . .

DELIVERING THE GOODS . . . in the sense that experienced workers are building the finest and most popular automobiles in Chrysler Corporation's history.

DELIVERING THE GOODS . . . in the sense that millions of dollars a day in raw materials are coming in across the receiving platforms as trainload after trainload of new automobiles move out to dealers and the public.

DELIVERING THE GOODS . . . in the sense that 1940 Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars represent today's most beautiful styling, the most advanced engineering and the finest workmanship.

The people of America have come to expect exceptional engineering and high quality in Chrysler Corporation automobiles.

The 1940 Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars not only live up to that high expectation—they exceed it!

It is an inspiring thing to see the quick responsiveness people show for outstanding value—the kind of value that is self-evident in car size, beauty, luxury, riding comfort, advanced engineering and fine workmanship.

Equally inspiring—urging us on to ever greater progress—is the unswerving confidence and loyalty of the merchants who sell and service our products.

Such staunch and widespread confidence and support strongly indorse our policies and principles of good manufacturing and sound merchandising.

We believe—and always have believed—that quality goes beyond good machinery and good materials. It lies in engineering genius, care and precision of manufacture, complete and thorough inspection.

Furthermore, millions of Americans choose to believe that of all manufacturers, Chrysler Corporation is particularly and notably successful in achieving the combined goal of low price and highest quality.

The 1940 Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars are by far the greatest values we have ever built—in smart styling, size, luxurious tailoring and appointments, riding quality and performance.

We know it—our dealers know it—the men who build the cars know it—and it is common knowledge and talk throughout the country.

May we suggest that you see your nearby Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer? He will gladly let the car you are interested in speak for itself, for him and for us.

Associations' Requests for '40 to Be Incorporated Into WPA Project.

Requests ranging from the construction of sandboxes to a bandshell have been made by city park associations for improvements in the city park system in 1940, it was revealed today.

In the hands of the board of park commissioners, the requests are expected to be incorporated into a WPA parks project for the development of recreational facilities during the coming year.

Commissioners said today the requests would be turned over to the engineering department for an estimate planned on the basis of obtaining federal assistance on the job.

The commission will then ask city council for funds to meet the sponsor's share of the anticipated program

Await Fifth Park.

Roy W. Vaughn, commissioner, said the requests which have been made by four of the five park associations would not be turned over to the engineers until the board had obtained recommendations from the Liberty Park Civic association

The requests received to date include those made by the South park-Maple lake association, Johns park, North lake park, and Prospect park

Recommendations include grading and seeding, drainage, dam repair, construction of a through roadway and a shelter house along with the extensions on recreational facilities at Maple lake and South park; a band shell and second floor construction of the shelter house at Johns park, a sandbox, horseshoe courts, sidewalk construction and refinishing of the shelter house at Prospect park, and the construction of a series of flood control dams in Touby's run and a new roadway at North lake park

O. S. R. Employes Not Affected by Age 70 Retirement Order.

Director Charles L Sherwood's order for the retirement for all employes of the state welfare department reaching the age of 70 before Jan 1, 1940, will not affect any of the Ohio State reformatory workers, Supt Arthur L Glattke said today

While Sherwood estimated that 25 workers would be affected at welfare institutions throughout the state, Glattke said that no employes at the reformatory will reach the compulsory retirement age this year.

Several O S R employes voluntarily retired two years ago under the Public Employes Retirement act which went into effect in January, 1938

Sherwood also directed that no continuance be granted persons reaching 70 between the first of the year and Jan. 1, 1942, when an amendment to the state employes retirement system bans them. At present retirement at 70 is mandatory unless continuances are granted

A customer bought some groceries, tendered a $10 check and received $8 change As an afterthought he ordered $12 worth more, to be delivered C O D

"Where'll I send it?" asked the clerk.

"To 811 N. W. 75th St"

The clerk started then inquired gently:

"How long have you lived there?"

"Oh, I just bought the house three days ago"

"The heck you did!" roared the clerk. "That's where I live!"

The customer fled but the clerk nabbed him on the street and called police, who jailed the party of the first part on a worthless check charge.

War Time Liner Rates Put End to Luxury Travel.

ROME —(AP)— Italy's near-monopoly of trans-Atlantic passenger travel is keeping its ocean liners busy, but war-time passenger rates have practically eliminated the first-class travel.

Tourist class fares, due largely to increased war risk insurance rates, are approximately the same as former first-class fares.

Consequently, those who usually traveled first-class now buy tourist passages and many who ordinarily would have gone tourist are traveling third-class.

Because of the scarcity of first-class passengers the Italian liner "Saturnia" on its last west-bound trip dispensed with the top-class entirely making the ship available to tourist class.

Revenge Seen In Murder of Nazi Consulate Attache

VICTIM SLAIN WITH AX WHILE ASLEEP, BELIEF

Body Found in 'Hitler House' in N. Y. Nearly Decapitated by Mystery Killer.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—a vengeful person with a racial or personal grudge was sought today as the bludgeon slayer of Dr. Walter Engelberg, 42, German consulate secretary.

Deputy Medical Examiner Manuel E. Marten said Engelberg, who had been in the consular service nearly 20 years, had been struck at least three times while asleep, and that the blows, with an "ax or some other heavy weapon," were so severe the man was "practically decapitated."

No weapon was found in Engelberg's Brooklyn dwelling, which neighbors called "Hitler house" and which is on a dead-end street that winds up at a Jewish burial ground.

Engelberg's battered body, clad in a bloody night shirt, was found in a second-floor bedroom yesterday. Marten said the man had been dead "about 24 hours." Chairs were overturned. Walls, carpet and ceiling were splashed with blood.

District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan said he believed Engelberg, a bachelor, had been slain by a "vengeance murderer," and other authorities were inclined to support this theory.

Among several persons sought in the strange case, which may develop into a mystery of international proportions, is a "middle-sized, German-speaking, stocky man with a mustache," Deputy Chief Inspector Joseph Reynolds said. This man had shared Engelberg's home for a time.

Reynolds said robbery was not the motive because Engelberg's valuables had not been disturbed.

Neighbors had regarded "Hitler house" as a place of mystery. They said Engelberg had "entertained" men until late hours; that only men were seen to enter, and that men had been hired to do the house work.

In the kitchen, cellar and garage were huge quantities of food and alcoholic beverages—vegetables, pickled herrings, sardines, preserves, soups, meats, fruits and Scotch, rye, gin and bourbon. On the second floor was Engelberg's office, with a desk, filing cabinet and a large portrait of his fuehrer, Adolph Hitler.

Engelberg was seen last at his consulate office Monday afternoon. He did not appear Tuesday, and when half of yesterday passed without word from him, Frederick Doell, consulate employe, was sent to find out the trouble. Doell discovered the body.

Engelberg, who held a doctor of laws degree from the University of Berlin, came to the United States about a year ago following a transfer from Athens, Greece. He was assigned first to the German consulate in Chicago, but after about two months he asked for a transfer to New York, saying he preferred eastern climate.

Scout Officials Feast On Venison At 'Widows' Party

More than 150 Boy Scout officials from the Johnny Appleseed area, their wives and friends, attended the 11th annual "scout widows" party and venison dinner last night at the Elks home.

H. A. Rider, assistant conservation commissioner of Ohio, was guest speaker, speaking on "Conservation in Ohio," in which he outlined the relation between wild life in the state and conservation.

Other talks were given by L. A. Ott, area president; Floyd Dent, area executive, and C. I. Kimmel, area commissioner, who outlined the objectives of scoutmasters and their assistants for 1940. A feature of the program was the presentation of a number of "errortorious awards" to various area officials by W. C. Mead, a member of the area council.

The program also included musical selections by the McBride hillbilly band, the high school quartet, Ernie Stafford, and tap dancing by Richard Zimmerman. H. W. Arlin was toastmaster, and Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of the Central Methodist church, gave the invocation. Guests at the dinner were George Green, scout executive of greater Cleveland, Willis Countryman of Butler and C. W. Marks.

Up and Down THE STREET

A number of Mansfield music lovers who are members of the Civic Music association will go to Sandusky Saturday night to hear Marian Anderson, who appeared in concert here last season. The noted singer will present a concert in the Sandusky high school auditorium at 9 p. m. and the doors will not open until 8 p. m. Rev. David N. Roller, president of the Mansfield association, has been notified that only a limited number of seats are available to out-of-town guests.

Mansfield Boy Scout officials had heard of "prize boners," but last night they got prizes for some of the embarrassing mistakes they made during the past year. Amid laughter and with red faces, a number of the troop leaders accepted "boner awards" at the Scout officials' annual venison dinner at the Elks home. One of the Scout leaders who got lost on a camping trip last summer received a compass. Another who cut a "14-mile hike" to a short jaunt from one side of the city to the other explained that his troop got 14 miles out of it "by taking short steps." He got an award, too.

Dewey Stover, manager of the Mansfield baseball club last season, is in the well-known "pink," the Braves' officials learned in Cincinnati, where they attended the minor league meeting this week. Although working every day for a Tiffin company, Stover has not missed his nightly coon hunting, although it has reduced his sleeping hours. With 14 coon already bagged, Stover is again the leading contender for the Seneca county championship, his Tiffin friends say.

Rehearsals of the chorus that will present the "Messiah" Sunday night in the First Presbyterian church have turned out to be a reunion for two members of the group, Mrs. Lawrence Frank of Mansfield and Mrs. Donald E. Syler, wife of the Methodist minister at nearby Bloominggrove. The two were high school classmates at Braintree, Mass., and graduated together. They hadn't seen each other since graduation and neither knew where the other lived until they met at one of the earlier rehearsal of the chorus.

FILE PETITIONS

The last-day filings were expected to boost the number of applicants to more than 50. They will take their final examination for citizenship on March 7 at the courthouse.

Assisting the applicants with their petitions today were A. E. Weatherbee, federal naturalization officer from Youngstown, and Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston and naturalization authorities will conduct the final examination in March.

100,000 FEET OF WALKS LAID

Report Shows WPA Furnished $30,000 in Labor for City-wide Project This Year.

Nearly 100,000 square feet of new sidewalk—enough to cover the area in one city block with a six-inch layer of cement—were laid in Mansfield this year.

This was disclosed in a report submitted to Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist today by Sidewalk Inspector Todd J. Patton, in charge of the city-wide WPA sidewalk project.

Patton's report shows that although the city received nearly $30,000 in labor from the Federal government it would up approximately $2,000 in the red on the season's activities.

During the seven months the program was in operation a total of 87,000 square feet of new walks were laid for property owners. Another 7,500 square feet of radial walks were put down at street intersections for which the city had to pay the entire cost.

In addition, the report said that 1,800 feet of new curbs requiring 6,983 cubic yards of excavation and waste hauling were constructed.

This boosted the truck expense on the project and resulted in a deficit in the sidewalk fund of $1,883.24, Patton said.

The project furnished work for approximately 70 men during the seven months it was in operation.

HUNT FOR TIPS ON SLAYER OF BUTCHER IN GAMBLING PLACES

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Police sought in Newport, Ky., today underworld tips that might lead to arrest of the slayer of Christian Glutz, 44, Mt. Adams meat market owner whose body, bearing knife wounds, was found in the Ohio river late Wednesday.

There were more than a dozen knife wounds on Glutz's body. An artery in his left leg was cut.

The body was found floating near the mouth of the Licking river by three men who were rowing a boat near the Kentucky side.

There was no water in the lungs, an autopsy showed, indicating that Glutz was dead when he entered the water. The body had been in the water about six hours.

Mrs. Josephine Glutz told detectives that her husband sometimes went to Newport gambling places and that he had been keeping late hours.

She told detectives he had lost about $23,000 in the stock market in the last two years and, recently, had appeared nervous.

Police Chief Leo Livingston of Newport said there was "only a far-fetched possibility" that Glutz had taken his own life.

Despite knife wounds on the limbs, the trousers and sweater Glutz wore were not torn or cut.

JURY 'RESTING'

Damage Case Settled, Panel Has No Work Till Monday.

Settlement out of court of a $2,000 damage suit against the City of Mansfield, which had been set for trial today, left the county petit jury without any work to do until next Monday.

The jury had nine cases on the calendar for the week, but eight of them were settled or continued. A damage case was heard Monday and Tuesday.

City Solicitor M. D. Ward, Jr., said there was no money involved in the settlement of the suit against the city. Frank G. Witter, the plaintiff, agreeing to dismiss his action if the city grades the lot in front of his property on Central avenue.

Witter, represented by Atty. R. W. Stephenson, claimed widening of Central avenue left a steep embankment in front of his home, causing a part of the lawn to slide down onto the right-of-way.

LEADERS MEET TODAY TO CHART 1940 CAMPAIGN

Executive Committee to Study National Convention Plans at One-Day Session.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Twenty Republican leaders, anxious to start the 1940 campaign with a well-filled war chest, gathered here today to discuss a three-month drive to wipe out a $700,000 deficit left over from the unsuccessful 1936 presidential race.

"We are going to try to get this deficit out of the way before the next campaign starts," said Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the house minority leader.

Before the meeting began, John Hamilton, national committee chairman, praised the morale of the party and forecast victory next year.

Some others attending said fund-raising for 1940 was going to be rather difficult for both major parties.

In any event, they added, the total sought by the Republicans would fall far short of the $8,892,971 spent in 1936. Part of that went toward a 1932 deficit and part was spent for senatorial and congressional campaigns.

The group called to the one-day closed session comprised the executive committee of the Republican national committee.

Selection of a time and place for the next national convention to choose presidential and vice presidential candidates is the function of the full national committee, which will meet around Feb. 1, but some informal discussion of these questions was expected today. Cities thus far to show an interest in obtaining the convention were said to be New York, Chicago, Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

Hamilton said he would sound out the executive committee as to when the national committee should be called. He also arranged a luncheon for the executive group and the following non-members:

Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential standard-bearer; Senator McNary of Oregon, the senate floor leader; Senator Townsend of Delaware, chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee; Rep. Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the congressional campaign committee; Earl Venable, executive secretary of the latter group; and Mrs. Ralph A. Harris, national committeewoman from Kansas.

TAX MONEY IN

County Gets $10,993 From State for Distribution.

The county received $10,993 from the state today, including $8,712 in November sales tax receipts for local government expenses and $2,281 in beer, malt and admission taxes to retire relief notes.

The sales tax money will be allocated later to Mansfield and other county sub-divisions for current operating expenses.

Subdivisions must use the relief funds to pay off relief bonds if they have any outstanding obligations. Mansfield and Madison township have the largest relief debts.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Mrs. Roosevelt Open to Criticism For Defense of Youth Movement Leaders

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—There is an impression that Mrs. Roosevelt showed up the Dies Committee by her conduct and her writings sympathetic to members of the American Youth Congress in Washington.

That she tried to show up the Dies Committee can be conceded without a struggle, but that she succeeded in doing so I don't agree.

It is my belief that the committee showed up Mrs. Roosevelt instead, or, more correctly, that the committee created a situation in which she tipped her own hand. The question whether she is sympathetic with the Communists is a clumsy one and is not capable of absolute proof either way. Each person finds himself in the position of a juryman on that one, invited to reach his own verdict on the evidence, and, in any case, the evidence is convincing.

I think this whole administration has been sympathetic with the Communists, and that Mrs. Roosevelt, holding neither appointive nor elective position, is influential in the opinions and policies of the administration. That is all right, too. Mrs. Roosevelt is her own woman and this is their own administration.

My most convincing authority on the history and character of the Youth Congress is J. B. Mathews, the backslid bolo, who was a fellow traveler for years and who is now an examiner and research man for the Dies committee.

I wouldn't trust Matthews as far as I could sling an anvil by the horn, because any man who admits, as he does, that he saw the Ukraine famine with his own eyes but refused to believe what he saw, is a liar by the clock, even though he calls his lies self-deception, as Matthews does.

But the sequence, the substance and the citations in Matthews' account of the history of the Youth congress are such as to relieve me of any need for trusting his word. Matthews gives convincing evidence that the communists did take over the Youth congress, and, referring back to last summer, when this Trojan horse bucked, whinnied and squealed in wild alarm over a resolution to denounce Communism along with Fascism and compromised by denouncing dictatorships instead, I am confident of my conviction.

The bolos don't admit that the Stalin dictatorship is a dictatorship, so, technically, the Red punks did not repudiate Stalin in permitting that resolution to pass under great pressure.

Mrs. Roosevelt's perturbation about the injustice that is inflicted on witnesses appearing before congressional committees comes very late and not much better late than if it never had been expressed at all.

It is a fact that citizens hailed before the inquisitors are not allowed counsel and that some examiners give them the old district attorney's treatment, but surely that isn't news to Mrs. Roosevelt, and it would have seemed better if she had taken occasion to object to such conduct toward simple citizens much earlier.

Her protest, raised only now and in these particular circumstances, suggests that it wasn't so much the treatment itself as the identity and character of the victims that aroused the gracious lady's sense of justice.

She couldn't have thought of rushing to the defense of J. P. Morgan or of Mr. Hearst's telegrams, could she? True, it may be that these are bad Americans, but the civil liberties fans and bolos themselves are always urging, on behalf of saboteurs and provocateurs, that the worst cases make the best cement to repair the structure of American rights.

This youth outfit may not now be as communistic as it was, but Mrs. Roosevelt was for it before the fall of Warsaw and the attack on Finland when it was at its worst.

The Stalin dictatorship is no worse now than it was then and in these new atrocities is just running true to form. The fact that some American bolos have quit communism since the Stalin-Hitler pact means only that they were embarrassed and double-crossed by Stalin.

Anyway, this youth movement, like all the others, is a phony, because not one of them is a genuine youth movement. They are all organized, directed and hopped up by leaders of middle years who want to direct youth into some service, political, military and religious. The punks just think they are running their own shows.

It not, then what is Mrs. Roosevelt doing in a youth movement?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The man who directed the movie of "Gone With the Wind" almost didn't read that 1037-page novel.

Victor Fleming, who was called to the job when George Cukor left it for another picture, knew the book before he had any idea he would film it. Fleming likes long books. He had heard enough about this one to force him to it. He had opened it in the middle, read on from there. Then he had gone back, opening it at another page, and picked up the thread. Skipping around, he covered it all.

Then David O. Selznick, the producer, called him and dumped "Wind" into his lap. "Look here," said Victor Fleming, "first thing I'd better do is go home and read the book—all the way through."

Selznick had another idea. "Why don't you be the man who hasn't read it?"

But Fleming isn't a neck-sticker-outer. He went straight home, read 'Gone" from cover to cover, began studying it, marking passages.

The other day Fleming, busy already on "The Yearling," a script which has been awaiting him for two years while he did other chores, was called back for a final "added scene" on "Gone." That marked finis to a movie on which he began shooting last February.

"We've shot the book," he says. "Almost page for page. Anybody who has read the book will find it in the movie. . . . I can't recall how many times we went to the book to settle minor details. If Scarlett O'Hara wore a black dress with a white collar on Page So-and-so of the book, she wears it in that sequence of the film. Sometimes it was a matter of concentrating seven or eight pages of the book into a single significant passage of dialogue — perhaps no more than a quick montage sequence, but it's all there."

Fleming, tall, silver-haired, fiftyish, is a rugged veteran of the films and one of the most versatile of directors. He started as a cameraman when Santa Barbara was a movie center, back in 1910. Periodically, he has decided to retire from pictures. Just as frequently as Honolulu or Alaska or round-the-world tripping calls him away, he returns. "The only way to quit pictures," he says now, "is just to walk out of the studio gate."

Quiet-spoken, unhurried, Fleming knows what he wants from his players and he gets it from them. He throws himself into a picture, never lets it off his mind when he's working on it, finds his relaxation afterward in duck or game hunting. Once during "Gone" he had to give in to a jittery stomach (Sam Wood took over) and spend a week in bed, taking sedatives. You might get jittery, too, thinking of the overhead involved in a movie that cost approximately $4,000,000, thinking all the while that the completed product would face an audience of millions of individual critics.

After "Gone" the time for a long rest had arrived, but there was "The Yearling." Fleming likes the story, thinks it will make a good picture. And he's already neck-deep in its affairs. Casting, for one, since Mickey Rooney has out-grown his original assignment in the book.

So it looks as if Victor Fleming won't be "just walking out" for a while yet.

Santa and the TALKING DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: The fairies have made Santa a doll to give the King of Westphalia. She is tall as a lady and after midnight she can talk of grown-up affairs. Santa waits for midnight.

There over the hills came a graceful young man.

CHAPTER FOUR

Santa's Visitor.

SANTA had dozed off by the time it was midnight. His long, carved ivory pipe lay on the hearth by his feet. There was no light but the pink-red glow from the fireplace. Shadows danced about the walls as the flames in the fire reached up and fell back. In the far corner a great clock ticked.

Then the chimes began to strike twelve. "One — two — three —" Santa started up. "Now what—where — Oh, yes. I'm waiting to see the new doll." He peered through the shadows to the foot of the huge Christmas tree that stands in the middle of the Toyshop.

There he saw a light shadow begin to move. It came toward him. It was the new doll, walking and smiling. She said, "You see, now midnight is here, and the world sleeps I can help you while away the hours."

"My soul," said Santa rubbing his eyes. He felt as though he must do something, so he bowed, and pulled up a tall chair for the doll. She thanked him and sat down.

"My soul!" said Santa to himself as he sat down. The two looked at each other, but the doll said nothing.

Finally Santa said, "Well, what shall we talk about?"

"As you say, Sire. I am made to be a companion," said the doll.

The Doll Talks.

"That's so," said Santa. "Well, I'll tell you what's worrying me. Year after year I keep working away to make presents for children. But it seems to me there are times when pople down in the world all look so unhappy. Even the children. My gifts seem to do no good. What would you suggest?"

The doll stared into the fire. Then she spoke:

"You know I am new and know very little. But today I watched and it seems to me that people and dolls and fairies smile easily over little things. Not over big things. Is there no way, in the world of which you speak, to give people little pleasure?"

Santa tugged at his beard and thought. Then he smiled:

"You are right. It never occurred to me before. But the leaders of men are all so busy trying to secure great riches that their people are unhappy. It's wrong. I just remember a little village I loved long ago. Each night at sunset the people met on the lawn in front of the church and danced until the moon came up. That dancing was a little pleasure."

"What has become of it?" asked the doll.

"Oh, one man stronger than the rest laid out great vineyards on all the hills and promised the villagers riches if they worked hard in the vineyards. So they have done for centuries. But they work so hard they are too tired to dance. They go to bed with worry and toss all night and get up just as tired. What could I do for them?"

The doll rose and walked slowly to a shelf. Sh reached up and took down a flute and brought it to Santa.

A Strange Sound.

"This," she said, "was played when you had lunch today. Remember how you all sang? Could you give all the people in your village flutes? Then at night, if they are too tired to dance they could at least sing, sitting on their doorsteps."

Santa smiled and hit his knee "slap" with his hand. "Fine! Fine," he said. "Why didn't I think of that? How did you think of it?"

"I don't know," said the doll. Then they heard a strange sound. Way out across the snowy hills they heard a bautiful flute song.

It was a dancing melody that rose and fell, ran fast, and then fell low. The doll's eyes brightened and she walked to the windows and threw them open. There over the hills came a graceful young man, dancing as he played. It was the son of Lightning.

Lightning challenges Santa.

SCIENTISTS FIND VALUABLE SUBSTANCE IN MILKWEED

(By International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal.—From lowly milkweed, considered a major weed pest, University of California scientists have isolated an enzyme in the white milky fluid substance of the plant.

In experiments at least the enzyme promises to supplant or supplement costly papain, papaya derivative, generally used in tenderizing of meats and for a number of other purposes.

It costs several million dollars annually for the United States to import 500,000 pounds of the tropical papaya plant.

Chief drawback of widespread commercial use at present of asclepain, as the milkweed enzyme is called, is that the milkweed plant contains but a small quantity as compared to the papaya plant.

Nevertheless milkweed is capable of intensive production in the United States, and acre for acre, should possibly yield as much of the enzyme substance as papaya, scientists believe.

Working on milkweed specimens taken from the experimental botanical gardens of the University of California, scientists in the departments of biochemistry and botany have been unable to determine that the new substance clots milks and digests most proteins in the same manner as papain.

Also, like papain, it can probably be put to a number of medical uses, such as the cleansing of wounds and in the amelioration of certain gastric disorders where the food proteins have been improperly digested.

The discovery is considered particularly significant at this time when the world is threatened with possible spread of the European war. Scientists are interested in the possibilities of making the United States self sufficient in the production of this vital papain substitute.

Boss Finds Gift Boots, Spurs Both for Same Foot.

TULSA, Okla. —(AP)— Water Commissioner John Graham thinks this could go on forever:

His employes gave him a pair of boots. When Graham tried them on, both were for the left foot. Back to the manufacturer they went for mating.

An employe gave him a pair of spurs, to fit the boots. Both were for the same foot. Graham discovered.

Then the boots came back—two sizes too small.

TELL BILL GOODBYE + + + + + +

By MARIE BLIZARD
(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

PUT ON your coat, Fabienne. Put on your arctics and your smart little hat. Muster your young singers to carol out Christmas joy. What business have you feeling sorry for yourself? Dick's in California with the Havilands. Gertrude's at Cannes. Nicky is having a Christmas Eve party. And you're in New York with nothing to do on the one day of the year when no one wants to be alone.

But you're not alone. Think of all the people you know in New York. People who'll get up at noon and drink the day away. But they're there if you want them.

Meanwhile you've got to spread Christmas cheer.

In her purse there was a roll of crisp new one-dollar bills. In a big basket in her office, there were 110 presents. Pocketbooks and harmonicas, toy trains and dancing dolls, gay bandanas and bright neckties. Fabienne's presents to be added to the settlement gifts. For Nicky, Gertrude and the rest of her family, she had bought one book each; the rest of her Christmas money she had spent to bring pleasure to those who needed it more.

She tried to think of that, instead of the loneliness of her expensive hotel room, when she started out with her little band on their itinerary to cover the neighborhood.

"Si-hi-lent night . . . Hooo-ohly night . . ."

Time and time again the childish voices lifted in the old hymn, with ash cans for a background and an elevated rumbling overhead; but with lifted, shining faces that drew listening, moved audiences as they toured the neighboring blocks.

From the shops and the bars, the subway kiosko and tenements their audiences applauded and asked for more, called cheery greetings.

"A merry Christmas to you!"

"A merry Christmas to you!" They called back and moved on.

Back to the settlement house at 8 o'clock. Santa Claus — Mr. Brown (the athletic instructor)—stood merry and very Christmas-like in his pillow-padded red suit and beard. The presents were distributed and hastily opened. "Auld Lang Syne" was sung. The lights of the Christmas tree burned brightly as they filed out of the hall, eager to be away, to take their treasures home.

Fabienne's bags were in her office.

Ellen said, "A merry, merry Christmas to you, Fabienne. I hope it's the happiest of holidays for you. We'll look for you the day after New Year's. Sure you don't want me to drive you to the station?"

"No, thanks, Ellen. I'll get a cab. Run along now. You've been working hard all day. And I wish you a very happy holiday, too."

She went to the door with Ellen and returned to her office with heavy footsteps. She put the bags in a supply closet and turned off the lights.

At the corner of the street she rasied her hand to hail a taxi and changed her mind. She had nothing to do with her Christmas Eve. She might as well walk and tire herself out so that she would not lie awake and be sorry for herself. She plunged her hands into her pockets and set off up the crowded street.

Across Henderson street, down Blake street, in the general direction of Fifth avenue, she pushed forward, stopped only by the red traffic lights.

Suddenly a small figure darted in and out of the traffic and Benny Kormendi caught up with her.

"Benny! What is a little boy like you doing out at this time?" It was 10 o'clock and Benny was only six.

* * *

His small face worked with excitement. "We got a new kid, Miss Seymour, and Mom can't go out to get nothing to eat. I gotta go see my aunt and get something for the rest of the kids."

"You mean you have a new baby at your house?" She was remembering the Kormendi family. Seven children and the father hadn't worked in two years. "And you haven't anything to eat?"

"My aunt'll give us something," he told her.

"Where does she live?"

He told her an address that was two miles or more away.

"Come with me," she said, taking his hand. There were plenty of stores in the neighborhood. You could buy any and all of the necessities of life in that neighborhood.

Fabienne bought all that she could think of. Small blankets—not very good ones, but warm—and a hot water bottle. She bought dolls and stockings and a holly wreath. And food, meat and vegetables, milk and bread and ice cream. When she and Benny could carry no more, she said, "Lead on, Benny, we'll take your mother a Christmas present."

The Kormendi's—all ten of them—lived in two dreadful little rooms. But when Fabienne came into them, with her arms filled, the Christmas spirit came with her. Mrs. Kormendi smiled and cried a little. The children screamed and shouted their glee; the father promised her that God would bless her forever.

"Ain't you goin' away, Miss Seymour?" one of the older girls asked. "I seen your bag in the office."

Fabienne was drawing on her gloves, anxious to be out of doors. "I was, Kathy," she said. "But now I'm not. I had some bad news so I'm staying in New York. Well, I must be getting on my way. Good luck to all of you!"

She felt better, less lonely when she left the tenement apartment into which she had brought so much happiness. But when she got back to her own rooms, they were cheerless and she sat down in her fur coat and scowled at the telephone that would have summoned any number of invitations.

Quite unexpectedly it rang.

She said, "Hello!" Surprise still was in her voice.

Ellen's voice answered her.

"Nit wit!" Ellen said. "What's all this Big Brave Girl stunt of yours? Thought you were safely off to merriment in Maryland?"

"How did you know I wasn't?"

"I stopped in at the Kormendi's . . . just heard they had a new baby. They told me."

"That's very sweet of you, Ellen. A merry Christmas again."

"Look here, I didn't call you up to exchange greetings. I'm downstairs in your lobby, with Bill. We're going to midnight mass. It starts in ten minutes. Come right straight down. You're coming with us."

Midnight mass? Fabienne? She hadn't been inside a church for 10 years. She wouldn't know how to act. She said, ""All right. I'll be right down."

I MUST NEVER, NEVER FORGET THIS. WHENEVER LIFE IS TOO MUCH FOR ME, TOO CONFUSED, TOO CROWDED, I MUST REMEMBER THIS.

Her eyes upon the altar, her profile pure in her listening attitude, Fabienne committed what she saw and felt to the deepest part of her memory during that midnight mass.

Bill was beside her. Ellen, too. But there was something else closer, dramatized by the great sound of the organ, the lighted tapers, the priests upon the altar. Something two thousand years old and beautiful beyond description. A Presence.

She wished that she had gifts to bring to the child who lay so pure, so touching in the arms of His mother.

The bells pealed on the altar and the people slid forward to their knees and bowed their heads.

Fabienne could not remember a prayer, but she bowed her head, feeling a lump in her throat, and she said, "Oh, thank Thee for this night!"

STADIUM HOLDS NAZI PRISONERS

But French Return Field to Less Grim Pursuits Of Athletes.

PARIS — The giant stadium of Colombes, on the outskirts of Paris, which served as a concentration camp for some 2,000 Germans caught in France at the outbreak of the war, has been returned to less grim pursuits.

The French government announced that the stadium, which consists of a huge bowl surrounded by subsidiary sports fields, is now "demolished."

Once more the thud of leather-shod toes on footballs resound where before was heard only the tramp of armed guards outside the gates and the subdued conversation of the prisoners within.

Where the Germans were taken remains a secret. When asked about it one French official merely shrugged, smiled and said, "The Provinces," which might mean anywhere in France outside of Paris.

RUSSIA REMOVES FAIR EXHIBITS

Workmen Dismantle $4,000,000 Display In New York.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Trucks loaded with small statues and furniture rumbled out of the New York's World fair yesterday as Russia began dismantling her $4,000,000 pavilion preparatory to taking it home.

It was announced the Soviets would not participate in 1940.

The Piece de Resistance of the exhibit, a huge 1-ton Mosaic Soviet map studded with diamonds, Rubies and semi-precious stones was unofficially reported to have been sent to Russia soon after the fair closed—then ostensibly for alterations on the Polish boundry.

Russia's exact plans for taking down the building remained unclarified.

FAMOUS CRITIC LAUDS WRITERS

Prof. Billy Phelps Names Eight Women as Outstanding.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—An "All-American" of contemporary women writers was named in Cincinnati by Yale's genial and famous Professor William Lyon ("Billy") Phelps, who took time out from a lecture tour to make his selections.

Professor Phelps, whose rating of a book is said to carry more power than that of any other critic, named these eight women authors of the past ten years, together with their outstanding volumes:

Willa Cather, "Death Comes for the Archbishop"; Pearl Buck, "The Good Earth"; Edith Wharton, "The Age of Innocence"; Ann Sedgwick, "The Encounter"; Dorothy Canfield, "Her Son's Wife"; Ellen Glasgow, "The Sheltered Life"; Zona Gale, "Miss Lulu Bett," and Mary Ellen Chase, "Dawn In Lyonesse."

NAVY STRESSES LARGER SHIPS' NEED FOR MEN

Battleships and Cruisers Only 85 Per Cent Manned Now, Reports Indicate.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The authorized increase of navy personnel from 107,550 to 110,000 men is inadequate in that it permits manning of large warships at only 85 per cent of full strength, Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles A. Edison informed President Roosevelt in his annual report.

The nation's seapower, Edison said, should be bolstered by more fighting ships manned at full war strength. Stressing the need for men, he stated:

"While the 85 per cent allowance is sufficient for the peacetime requirements of certain types of combatant ships, the total personnel is inadequate in experienced men to provide for mobilization of the fleet. The department must maintain mobilization plans which contemplate the complete and efficient manning of useful combatant ships, now in full commission, in reduced commission, or out of commission, in addition to many auxiliary vessels that will be obtained from the merchant marine.

Officer Increase Asked.

Other steps urged by Edison included:

1. Increase of line officers personnel from 7,562 to 8,671.

2. Increase of pay and allowances for navy personnel, which are "inadequate" and occasioning "hardship and suffering," in view of higher scales in other government branches.

3. Continuation of fleet maneuvers annually because "they are of the utmost value in training personnel."

Edison noted improved health conditions among personnel, and said that there had been a 31 per cent decrease in aviation accidents during the year despite the increased scope of naval flying activities.

The report showed that the navy spent $1,049,092,898 during the 1939 fiscal year. It operated 15 battleships, 18 heavy cruisers, 18 light cruisers, 121 destroyers and light mine layers, 58 submarines, five aircraft carriers, one mine layer, 12 patrol vessels, and 100 auxiliaries during the period.

These included one heavy cruiser, three light cruisers, eight destroyers, four submarines, two aircraft carriers, and one oil tanker, which were new ships commissioned during the year.

Destroyer Strength Low.

"The new construction, which is at present being undertaken, plus that previously authorized and appropriated for, will leave the United States, in completed underage destroyers and submarines, considerably below the strength permitted by the Washington and London naval treaties in vessels of these categories," Edison said.

"Requests for authorizations and funds will be made on the basis of an orderly replacement and augmentation program, insofar as such a program can be developed without jeopardizing immediate demands," he explained. "The creation of a merchant marine of modern, fast and efficiently manned vessels is a measure of great importance to national security as an auxiliary war reserve of vessels not needed for use in peacetime, but urgently and promptly required in war."

Chairman Carl Vinson, D., Ga., of the house naval affairs committee, has already announced that he will introduce a bill authorizing an additional $1,300,000,000 expansion program at the coming session of Congress to meet defense needs. The measure provides for 95 new warships including aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, 2,400 more planes and 36 blimps.

SELLING HITS MARKET AFTER EARLY UPSWING

Holders of Automobile Shares Encouraged by Reports of Increased Production.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market ran into a little selling today after an early forward swing. While pressure was light, initial gains of fractions to more than a point were substantially reduced or cancelled.

Resistant were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, Anaconda, Westinghouse, DuPont, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris and Great Northern.

Trading circles appeared heartened by the ability of the market to burst out of its recent narrow confines in yesterday's session. At the same time, some felt the advance may have been a bit too swift and profits were cashed here and there on this theory.

Bonds were mostly higher and commodities mixed.

On the side of automotive shares were statements of several Detroit sales executives that "our unfilled orders right now are the greatest in the history of the company." Demand for new cars was said to show no signs of slackening as factory schedules were being stepped up.

Bracing market-wise were opinions expressed at the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers indicating industrialists generally believe the current high rate of business activity will continue into the first quarter of next year.

SPORTSMAN DIES

Spencer Penrose, 'Empire Builder' of Colorado, Stricken.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col.—(INS)—Spencer Penrose, 74, multi-millionaire Colorado Springs sportsman and philanthropist, died at his home early today following a long illness.

The end for the internationally-known Colorado "empire builder," one of the last survivors among the men who built the Rocky Mountain west, came quietly of a lingering ailment.

attack was attempted "shortly after mid-day," when an air raid warning was sounded as soon as the planes were detected.

The all clear signal was given after 35 minutes. Heavy gunfire was heard all along the coast and planes were observed diving from a great height.

No bombings were reported.

The Firth of Forth area, in southeastern Scotland, contains the important naval base of Rosyth and was the scene of the first major German air raid on Britain Oct. 16.

Make 60 Raids on French Advance Lines.

PARIS — (U.P.) — German troops made 60 raids on the French advanced lines of the western front during the early hours of this morning, it was learned today, in the first real activity in a month.

French outposts were raided all along a 100 mile line between the Moselle and Rhine rivers as the Germans sought to find weak places in the French defnses and obtain information regarding troop dispositions.

Rifles, machine guns, grenades and mines made a bedlam of the front and finally artillery was brought into action to clear the no man's land between the French and German lines.

The French reported heavy losses among the German raiding parties, and numerous prisoners, but admitted that they had lost some dead and wounded.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

HERE IS GOOD NEWS!—Amazing Experiences Of Relief with RUX Reported by Prominent Mansfield People.

Crowds Flock to Great Medicine Sale at Local Drug Store.

The great sale of RUX Compound still goes on, and each day the fame of this remarkable medicine spreads throughout Mansfield and vicinity as more and more people hear from the lips of grateful users their amazing stories of relief.

An Amazing Experience.

Enthusiastic in his own experience with RUX, Mr. Clifford Thompson, Sheriff of Bureau County, Illinois, states:

"I have been having Rheumatic Pain attacks which at times were quite intense. Sometimes I could hardly bear the pains caused by putting on or taking off my coat. Only those who have suffered Rheumatic Pains know the suffering I endured. I experimented with many suggested reliefs. Finally I found RUX and am happy to say that after taking it I feel so different. RUX relieves those sharp Rheumatic Pain attacks and I am so grateful that I expect to continue its use."

MR. CLIFFORD THOMPSON

If you are a Rheumatic Sufferer—if your body is racked with sharp stabbing muscular pain attacks that make life a torment—if you roll and toss through sleepless nights, feel unfit for work or pleasure because of c

THEATERS

TRAGEDY continues to follow the family of Bobby Harron, once one of the greatest of the D. W. Griffith stars who was in "Birth of A Nation," and starred with the Gish girls. Bobby died from a gunshot wound in 1920, a short time after a brother had been killed in an auto accident. In 1930 the father of the boys was burned to death in an incinerator, and last week Johnny Harron, who also played in silent pictures, died in an accident in Seattle. . . . Fans yelled so loud at Alice Faye not singing in "Hollywood Cavalcade" that she will do one number in "Little Old New York" despite her desire to get away from singing roles. . . . First reports have it that Mary Martin, whose heart belonged to daddy, doesn't shine so brightly in "Victor Herbert" and that singing honors go to a youngster, Susannah Foster.

Veteran and Youngster.

The two stars of "Henry Goes Arizona" are Frank Morgan, veteran comedian, and little Virginia Weidler. The inimitable Morgan, as a broken down, nervous vaudevillian, inherits a ranch and goes to claim it. He finds a likeable youngster and runs into a bunch of trouble. A band of bad men who had killed his brother and framed another for the crime, arrange a lynching party for him, but while he can't fight Western style, his vaudeville wit aids him to outwit his enemies. The comedy will be shown at the Ohio one day.

"Private Detective."

Perhaps Jane Wyman's new roles in the Torchy series as a sleuthing newspaper woman have given her a yen for detective work. Anyway, she plays a private detective in the film of that name, which is the Madison attraction tomorrow only. Dick Foran, Gloria Dickson and Maxie Rosenbloom are in the cast. A murder follows a fight between a divorced couple for the custody of their child, and suspicion falls on the woman. But when the detectives fail to solve the mystery, bright Miss Wyman does the trick.

Crime Club Story.

The eighth and last of the current series of Crime Club mystery films is "The Witness Vanishes," one of the Ritz features for Friday and Saturday. The locale is the London Sun. The former publisher is railroaded to an insane asylum by four plotters who stole his paper and when he escapes he plots to kill them all. Edmund Lowe heads the cast, with J. M. Kerrigan and Wendy Barrie in support. The second picture is a Three Mesquiteers episode with John Wayne.

Plenty of Mystery.

There will be no dearth of screen attractions for the movie goers who like their screen fare dished up with lots of mystery and thrills, for a third theater, the Majestic, serves a mystery yarn the last two days of the week. "Tell No Tales" with Melvyn Douglas and Louise Platt is the story of a newspaper man into whose hands there falls a $100 bill which is a part of ransom money in a famous kidnapping and murder case, and how he follows this clue provides the action. "The Rangers Round-Up" is also on the bill.

The Count Returns.

Once again "The Count of Monte Cristo," is brought back. This spectacular production of the Dumas novel, with Robert Donat as the hero, is one of those films that is good for years. It was the first big picture that Donat made and Elissa Landi plays Mercedes to his Dantes. The picture is on the Park screen tomorrow and Saturday, where "The Big Show" with Gene Autry, will also be shown.

Radium is enormously expensive because it takes 14,000 tons of ore to produce one ounce, worth $700,000.

Dutch Mine Their Vulnerable Harbors

Highly vulnerable to attack from the sea, Holland is protecting her harbors with an intricate system of underwater defences, supplemented by land fortresses. Here is one of the tiny railroads used to carry munitions to the waterfront. At left, loads of shells are being carried to one of the forts, while at right a trainload of mines is carried up for planting in Dutch waters.

Eddie Poses With Grandson

BUY UP SHEEP

Army Buyers Bring Peasants' Sweet Prosperity.

SCHWYZ, Switzerland —(AP)— Swiss mobilization brought prosperity to the peasants of Schwyz, one of the forest cantons which formed the original "Oath of the Confederates" to which Switzerland's government owes its origin.

A scarcity of mutton on the main city markets sent Swiss army buyers into the Schwyz hills where they purchased 3,000 of 6,000 sheep belonging to peasants on the cantonal poor lists.

Army buying in the country direct from needy peasants is to continue as long as the army is kept above normal strength—probably for the duration of the war in western Europe.

BUCYRUS—The history of natural gas from its first service piped through hollow logs to its present modern use was traced for the benefit of Bucyrus Rotarians by C. A. Chadwell, Columbus, guest speaker, at the regular Tuesday meeting.

The speaker, who is in charge of the pressuer control department of the natural gas network in Ohio, was brought to Bucyrus by James McFarland, manager of the Bucyrus office of the Ohio Fuel Gas company.
